WEIGH ROAD RATES TO AID CONGRESS.

Interstate Commerce Commissioners Balance Railways' Capitalization for the Laws' Framework.

SEEK TO CURB HARRIMAN.

President's Idea on Stock Interchange Followed; Values of Many Lines Will Be Well Sifted.

BY JOHN CALLAN O'LAUGHLIN.

Washington, D. C., July 14.—[Special.]—The interstate commerce commission and bureau of corporations gradually are acquiring information as to the value of railroad properties which will go a long way toward enabling the determination of the relation of railroad rates to capitalization.

One of the important questions that congress will have to decide at the next session will be the method that shall be employed to effect uniform and simultaneous valuation of railroads of the United States. This question was agitated during the last session, but no action was taken because the plan proposed had many crudities which it was feared would operate to the disadvantage of the interests most concerned. After considering the matter for some time the president announced that he was in favor of the principle of valuation and would commend it to congress in his next annual message.

In the meantime, carrying out the president's wishes, the interstate commerce commission and bureau of corporations are acquiring information as to the value of property of common carriers. This was done by the commission during the Spokane and Harriman investigations and in other cases involving the question of a reasonableness of a rate. In this work the commission has had the cooperation of the bureau of corporations. In the Harriman case the commission gained a good idea of the value of the Chicago and Alton, and even of the larger roads, including the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific.

Harriman Hampered Board.

Harriman declined, however, to reveal many facts which would be of importance in making a more accurate estimate not only of worth of the properties which he and his associates manipulated but of the extent to which they profited by manipulation. Several months ago it was announced that Harriman would be compelled to answer these questions, which would produce the information desired. Then it was stated the commission would not take action against him. It was learned today, however, that the commission has authorized Messrs. Kellogg, Bentley, and Marble, its counsel, to file a petition in the southern judicial district of New York praying that Harriman be compelled to furnish information the commission desires. The fact that the commission intends a report, which was published this morning, cannot be raised by Harriman as an objection to its prayer. The report is called officially merely as a preliminary statement of Chairman Knapp and his associates prepare later on to make public a final report, which will be of greater use to congress than the document made public.

May Supervise Surplus Capital.

It is believed by the time congress reassembles the commission will have in its possession a great deal of information which will enable it strongly to back up the proposal that it be given authority to supervise the issue of securities and investments made with surplus capital.

In his speech at Indianapolis the president said he would urge upon congress "the urgency of making provisions to enable the interstate commerce commission to employ experts to invoice the property of all the railroads." Neither the president nor the commission believes this invoicing would favor an overcapitalization, but would demonstrate on the other hand that a great share of railroad securities rest upon safe and solid foundations. In any measure congress may pass, authorities would not grant any provision which might permit an overwatering of what has been done in the past with consequent injury to hundreds of thousands of innocent investors.

Aid Work of Commission.

A simultaneous valuation of railroads, while costly, would put the commission in a position, first, to pass more equitably on the reasonableness or unreasonableness of a rate against which complaint has been filed. Second, it would enable the commission to decide whether an application for an issue of additional securities was justified by the condition of the road making this request and whether the improvement for which money was needed should be made. In itself this would be a tremendous power vested in the commission. Transportation interests of the country would be placed in the hollow of its hand. The grip would be strengthened if congress were to authorize it to supervise investments of surplus capital. Those operations which are responsible for a sweeping condemnation of Mr. Harriman could not be conducted if the commission were clothed with this authority.

Defines Railroads' Powers.

In its report on the Harriman investigation, the commission declared the function of a railroad corporation should be confined to the business of transportation. It adopted almost word for word the president's views as set forth in his Indianapolis speech, that the railroads should be permitted to invest generally in stocks, bonds, and securities of other railroads and of steamship companies, except connecting lines, for the purpose of forming through routes of transportation, including branches and feeders. It also practically quoted the president in saying that it is contrary to public policy for railways to acquire control of parallel and competing lines.

"There is no law today which would prevent Harriman from making as many issues of securities of Union Pacific, Oregon Short Line, and Southern Pacific as he chose. It is the market which is to determine how much is to float. Nor is there any law to say in what road or roads he shall or shall not invest money realized from the sale of these securities. If congress grant the commission the authority indicated above, neither Harriman nor his successors of the future can conduct such financial operations, which are harmful not alone to the stockholders of the properties involved but also to the interests of the general public.

"On the other hand, the railroads can claim that they know their business and its needs a great deal better than a body of seven men who sit in Washington and who have to depend for their information upon a hurried inspection trip and the report of experts they send to make an examination."

8 AUTOS BURNED; WOMEN IN PANIC.

Hyde Park Hotel Annex and Adjoining Garage Quickly Ruined by a Fierce Fire.

BAD SCARE FOR GUESTS.

Servant Girls Are Rescued with Difficulty and Some Are Overcome by Smoke.

Fire ruined the south annex to the Hyde Park hotel at Fifty-first street and Lake avenue yesterday afternoon and the firemen had a difficult task to prevent it from communicating to the main structure.

Two hundred and fifty guests, most of them women and children, as it is a family hotel, were terrified when the building filled with smoke and ran wildly about, especially on the second floor, where the servant girls were screaming.

Thirty-five of the servant girls and half a dozen men employés lost most of their clothing and other personal effects and some of them had thrilling escapes, as they were asleep in their rooms when the fire started.

Overcome or Injured.

CARSON, JOSEPHINE, servant; overcome by smoke; rescued by policeman.
FREDERICHS, EMIL, employé; hands and arms burned slightly and cut by glass.
KARPERS, EVA, 18 years old, servant; fell down stairway; bruised.
KLINGING, JOHN, captain of engine company No. 60; overcome by smoke.
MOTTELL, MAY, 16 years old, servant; hand cut by glass.
SMITH, ALBERT, employé; overcome by smoke.

Eight automobiles in the Hyde Park garage, adjoining the hotel on the south, were burned, and the upper floor of the annex, where the servants had their quarters, was ruined, although a sign at the entrance announced that it was fireproof.

Blaze Starts in Laundry.

The fire started in the rear of a laundry which occupies the extreme southern portion of the annex. No one was working in the laundry at the time. Mrs. Charles F. Bilger, wife of an undertaker at 5133 Lake avenue, saw the flames first and called up engine house 60, from which Capt. John Klinging and his men responded to the still alarm. The captain turned in a 2-11 shortly afterward and then a 4-11 alarm.

The flames burned fast. The firemen tried to fight the blaze from the front, but they found they could do more effective work from the rear stairway, where the smoke was so thick that Capt. Klinging was overcome in the first few minutes.

Many of the servant girls, principally scrubwomen or others who work at night, were in their rooms lying down, though all were dressed. Josephine Carson's door was locked and in her excitement she couldn't open it. She yelled from her window for assistance and then sank down just below it overcome by the smoke. She was carried out by Policeman Michael O'Leary.

Girls Have Narrow Escapes.

Some of the other girls who had narrow escapes, losing their way in the confusion and smoke, were Marion Novak, Mary Nielus, Barbara Mottell, Rose Siamor, Stella and Josie Miller. Some of them went back, hoping to save some of their clothing, but were warned by the firemen to keep out of the burning annex.

Albert Smith, one of the hotel employés, was in bed asleep in the room nearest the laundry when the fire started. He was awakened by the racket and tried to save his property. He threw most of his clothing into his trunk and was trying to push it out of the window when he fell over backward, overcome by the smoke. The trunk fell out of the window, but Truckman Garrett Hefferman had to carry Smith out.

Philip Zeeter also was asleep. He escaped in an undershirt and a pair of duck trousers. Emil Fredericks lost all of his own clothing in his efforts to save the personal effects of the girls.

The attention of the firemen was directed so intently to the annex that they didn't pay much attention to the two story garage adjoining it. When the fire started seven or eight chauffeurs and helpers were sitting in front of the garage. After watching the fire a minute or two they ran out from the first floor six or seven automobiles belonging to customers. By the time they thought of eight other machines, some of them on the second floor, it was too late to save them. The value of the burned autos is estimated at $2,000 each. They belonged to the garage.

Panic in the Hotel.

As soon as it became evident that the fire would not communicate to the main body of the hotel bellboys were sent to the various rooms to reassure the guests, who were packing up their belongings. The panic in the hotel was on the first and second floors, and it took some strong talk from Police Lieutenant Stokes to quiet the screaming women and children.

Some of the servant girls lost money in the fire. Marion Novak missed $12, Josie Miller said she lost $10, and two or three other girls lost smaller sums.

The entire second floor of the annex was occupied by the servants' quarters. On the first floor were several stores. The loss on the buildings is estimated at $20,000, and the damage to the contents as follows:

Tailor shop, 5112 Lake avenue, owned by J. Arndt & Sons; $300.
Meat market, 5114, owned by Shafer Young; $200.
Grocery, 5114 and 5118, owned by Black Bros.; $1,000.
Hyde Park laundry, 5120, owned by hotel management; $1,500.
Hyde Park hotel garage, 5122 and 5124, also owned by the hotel, eight automobiles destroyed; $16,000.

CLOUDS OF MOTHS STALL TRAIN

Myriads of Insects Obscure View and Bury Tracks, Halting Canadian Northern Limited.

Port Arthur, Ont., July 14.—The Lake Superior limited on the Canadian Northern railway had a peculiar experience near Kashabowie, where a cloud of moths was encountered, obscuring the view and covering the tracks so deeply that the train was stalled. It took the train crew about two hours to clear the tracks so that the train could proceed.

DOWRIES FOR GIRL TOILERS.

Women Trade Unionists Propose Fund to Promote Weddings.

IDEA MEETS WITH APPROVAL

Miss McDowell Thinks Marriage Should Be a Profession.

Matrimony has been raised to the high dignity of a profession—and a paying one at that—by the women who should be in a position to know whereof they speak—trade union women.

It remained for the Women's National Trades Union league, which held its first interstate conference at Hull house yesterday, to take action which, members of the league declare, will be followed by the voting of a matrimonial endowment fund. After this fund has been provided matrimony among the members of the various trade unions made up of women will be encouraged substantially by the payment of from $100 to $500 to the blushing bride who leaves the union to take up the duties of a wife.

"Marriage should be looked upon as a dignified profession, and as unionists we should encourage it," said Miss Mary McDowell, who first suggested the endowment idea. "In England the sensible union women are not so foolishly sentimental as to pooh pooh the endowment idea and it now is being practiced in a satisfactory manner. The same may be said of Germany, where it is customary to pay the young woman who leaves the union to become a wife the dues which she had paid into the organization."

Approved with Enthusiasm.

The idea was new and the delegates to the conference, most of whom are young and unmarried, enthusiastically indorsed it. A few of the younger delegates blushed when they discussed the topic, but most of them handled the question in the same businesslike manner as they did ways and means of securing increased wages.

"I fully agree with Miss McDowell," said Miss Rose Pfanstil. "I would suggest that the endowment be about $300. It might range from $100 up, according to the length of time the member has been in the union. I admit that the objection to women workers, that they always are looking for a different life, is not without foundation, and the union should assist its members into this life."

Wants Divorce Benefits Also.

The possibilities of such an endowment were explained more fully by Miss Margie Jones of Cincinnati, who set forth that this endowment certainly would be accompanied by divorce benefits, or "repeaters," in cases of second marriages.

"Marriage is the goal of every woman worker," she said. "Such an endowment, to many of its members, would be the redeeming feature of a union. In Cincinnati a laundryman told me that twenty-eight of the twenty-nine women who left him to get married returned and asked for their old jobs again. For this twenty-eight there would be the possibility of earning the endowment the second or third time."

Then Miss Kate Ryrie, a garment worker of Detroit, made a statement which, it is feared, will result in an exodus of Chicago woman workers to Detroit.

"Because of the large number of marriages in Detroit we can't increase our membership at all," said Miss Ryrie. "We gather in the members in large numbers, but they are married off as fast as we can write their names on the books. However, we would favor the endowment scheme."

Husbands Must Be Union Men.

"But one restriction should be made," suggested Mrs. Samuel J. Sullivan of Indianapolis. "The man who gets a girl with an endowment must be a thorough union man. Unless there is a union label on him he will not be eligible to become the husband of one of our number."

Thus it is expected to increase at once the membership in the unions made up of women and of the unions for the male contingent. There were many other suggestions as to ways and means of putting the endowment theory into practice. It was suggested that there might also be a premium on each child born. In fact, there were so many suggestions that it was decided to send the delegates back to their locals for final instructions and take up the question once more in the near future.

Similar Meetings in the East.

Simultaneously with the calling to order of the Chicago conference, meetings in New York and Boston convened. Telegrams of congratulation were exchanged and it was discovered in this manner that Chicago, with its eighty-one organizations represented, was the biggest conference of the three.

Mrs. Raymond Robins presided at the meeting and announced the topic which had been set for discussion—"How May Women's Unions Be Best Strengthened?" It was Miss McDowell who believed that the marriage endowment would be the strongest drawing card.

In summing up the discussion upon the subject Miss Sophonisbe Breckenridge of the University of Chicago declared the whole problem was up to the women who, to a great extent, offered their services to employers for practically nothing.

Woman Suffrage Is Demanded.

The conference unanimously indorsed resolutions favoring the granting of equal suffrage to women. It was contended that women never would receive proper consideration before legislative bodies until they have the power to punish or reward unfair or fair legislators by judicious use of the ballot.

A resolution was adopted which demanded that the federal government give at least one woman a position upon the national bureau of labor.

STREETER AGAIN DEFIES LAW; DRIVES OFFICER FROM BOAT.

Former Squatter on Lake Front Says That Property Cannot Be Levied Upon for Debt.

South Bend, Ind., July 14.—[Special.]—Capt. George Wellington Streeter, former claimant to a large section of the Chicago lake front, yesterday stood off a deputy sheriff who had come to levy on his steamboat, using as his weapons a big army revolver and the declaration that county officers had no authority over his craft.

A local lumber company had brought attachment proceedings, claiming Streeter had neglected to pay for $100 worth of lumber used in constructing the vessel and Deputy Sheriff Kerr, armed with proper papers, boarded Streeter's boat to serve them.

Streeter claims the local officers have no right to enforce the law, as his boat is in a navigable river, property of the United States.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PARIS, July 14.—The national celebration of the achievement of French liberty was marred today by an attempt on the life of President Fallieres by Leon Maille, a naval reservist.

It is possible it was the work of anarchists, but it is believed almost certain to have been merely the act of a lunatic criminal, who was immediately arrested. No harm came to anybody except the assailant himself, who was roughly used by the crowd.

The great review of thousands of troops had passed successfully and quietly in Longchamps. The frantic appeals of anti-militarists and the confederation of labor to their followers to make trouble at the review had been futile. Even the presence near the entrance to Longchamps of negroes bearing huge placards across their breasts bidding spectators to remember the Narbonne shooting and eulogizing the mutinous Seventeenth regiment did not affect the crowds, who merely looked at the placards and passed on to watch the review, made additionally spectacular this year by the maneuvers of the dirigible war balloon, the Patrie.

Miniature Riot Precedes Attacks.

When the review was concluded President Fallieres, Prime Minister Clemenceau, and M. Fallieres' secretary, M. Lane, entered the president's carriage to return to the Palace Elysée. As usual the Avenue Bois de Boulogne and the Champs Elysées, and the whole route homeward were thronged with people assembled to watch the return.

When the presidential carriage approached some scores of individuals who up that time had been indistinguishable from the rest of the crowd in the Avenue Bois de Boulogne, simultaneously spread across their breasts Hervelst badges and cried:

"Down with Clemenceau!" "Down with the Narbonne massacre!" "Long live the Seventeenth regiment!" and "Down with the army!"

The presidential cortége, passing at a lively trot, paid no heed to these cries, but spectators immediately turned upon the disturbers, aiming blows with canes and umbrellas at them and shouting in mighty chorus: "Long live the army."

Elaborate police precautions had been taken along the whole length of the route as well as at Longchamps, to provide for just such an emergency or any other. The police precipitated themselves upon the Hervelsts and arrested forty-one of them forthwith, of whom thirty-four were held.

Shots Start Panic in Crowd.

The presidential cortége meanwhile had long passed and traversed the Champs Elysées and had turned into the Avenue Marigny, which was lined on both sides with throngs awaiting the president. Men, women, and children, whole families, out together, were standing and seated along the whole length of the avenue from the Champs Elysées to the Rue Faubourg Honoré.

As usual at such functions M. Lepine, prefect of police, was in a carriage preceding the president. Just as the latter reached a point opposite the Elysée gardens an ordinary looking man who had been seated on the curb arose. Fallieres, as it happened, had just turned toward that sidewalk and was bowing to the crowd, when the man pulled a revolver from a coat pocket and fired.

The sound of the shot wrought consternation amid the throngs. Those nearest the shooter barely had time to turn and see that it really was he who had done it when he fired a second time.

Mob Attacks Assailant in Instant.

A policeman who was standing almost at the man's side threw himself upon him. Instantly detectives, who were thick among the spectators, came to the policeman's aid. The man made no resistance, but stood on the edge of the sidewalk, with the smoking revolver still in his hand. The crowd, which had scattered in a panic at the shots, immediately closed in, endeavoring to strike the culprit, and some succeeded.

The police then had to defend the prisoner from the crowd's anger. He went unresistingly to jail.

The revolver he used was so small as to be almost regarded as a toy. It was a six shooter and four bullets remained in it.

Officers attending President Fallieres closed around his carriage at the first shot. Fallieres was little moved. He smiled and said he was not hurt. The cortége proceeded to the palace without further commotion.

He Is Identified as Crazy Sailor.

A search revealed the prisoner had five francs and a ticket for luggage left at the St. Lazare railway station. Nothing more was found on him. He was dressed like a workman in Sunday clothes, but with a shirt slightly soiled. His baggage proved to be a broken trunk containing plenty of cartridges for the revolver, clothing and papers revealing the owner as Leon Marie Maille, sailor, 41 years old, who was born at Meyries, in Lazare.

While he might be a tool of the anarchists or be one himself, it is believed tonight he simply is an alcoholic and with a disordered mind.

As no newspapers were published in Paris this afternoon, the attempt on the life of President Fallieres was not generally known and the festivities were uninterrupted.

President Fallieres has received numerous telegrams of congratulation from the rulers of many countries on his lucky escape.

"KISS DEVIL" WORST OF ALL?

Cairo Pastor Declares It Has Rum Demon Beaten for Evil.

HOLD HANDS, DON'T SMACK.

Tender Caress on Lady Love's Finger Most Dr. Bass Would Permit.

Cairo, Ill., July 14.—[Special.]—The Rev. D. L. Bass, pastor of the Calvary Baptist church, whose recent sermon on the evils of kissing created a stir here, renewed his attack on "the kiss devil" today.

"The kiss devil is doing more to fill hades than the whisky devil, the drug devil, and all the other devils rolled into one," said Dr. Bass. "Sweethearts should never kiss until they are married. In the days of our grandparents, in the southern states at least, any attempt to kiss a girl was rightly considered as great a wrong as could be committed against her. Such an attempt was a gross insult, and the man who offered it and the young woman's father or brother met with pistols at the next sunrise.

Kissing Hands His Limit.

"Let sweethearts hold each other's hands as a token of their pure affection. And when they part the man may perhaps bring his sweetheart's tender hand to his lips for fleeting, gentle, respectful pressure. But that should be all.

"There is something wonderfully magnetic and thrilling in a kiss. When two sets of lips come together like two clouds charged with electricity, one positive, one negative, the result in certain cases is an emotional explosion and cloudburst of excessive passion and ecstasy. The kiss goes straight, like the shock of a galvanic battery, to the heart, and the weaker party always is paralyzed under the blow, whether for good or ill, or whether for weal or woe.

Danger Lurks in Lip Smack.

"Nothing has more of heaven's fire or fire of Hades in it than the kiss of a sweetheart or of a villain and the first step of a fiend incarnate in order to destroy the innocent but deluded victim in his clutches is to get his lips to hers. Thousands of girls have surrendered the fortress of their character to the kiss of a libertine, who well knows its psychologic dynamic power when the affections and confidence have been won in woman's heart.

"God deliver us from the kissing devil."

The Rev. Dr. Bass, though a southerner, has Puritan blood in his veins. He is a descendant of Samuel Bass, who settled in Massachusetts in 1630.

Frederick, Md., July 14.—[Special.]—Soloman Crum, a Frederick county farmer, who on Friday last hired as harvest hand a stranger who applied to him for work, was surprised today to learn his helper was head of a corporation doing business in Philadelphia and New York.

The man is Elmer G. Small, president of a silk company. His identity was revealed when the sheriff of Frederick county came to arrest Small on a warrant charging forgery.

Small is alleged to have forged a certificate representing that he owned property to the value of $80,000. With this certificate he negotiated the purchase of $60,000 capital stock in the silk company. He was made president of the company April 24 last.

Employe of Lundin Chemical Works at Austin Determined to Die—Suicide of Bismarck Hotel Guest.

After cutting his throat and both wrists with the blade of a safety razor, Gus Olson, 38 years old, early this morning jumped from a third story window at 7 North Forty-eighth avenue and hung suspended on the electric wires, two stories below, until taken down by the fire department. He was employed by the Lundin Chemical works.

J. W. Marwood, 55 years old, a truck gardener of Franklin Park, committed suicide by inhaling gas in room 309 of the Bismarck hotel.

SEND FOR MAGILL TO STAND TRIAL.

Clinton, Ill., Officials Gather Evidence of Alleged Wife Murder Pending His Return.

GIRL BRIDE IMPLICATED.

Official Hints She May Be Involved; Accused Man in San Diego Declares He Is Innocent.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Clinton, Ill., July 14.—[Special.]—Sheriff H. A. Campbell of De Witt county left this afternoon with requisition papers signed by Gov. Deneen to bring back Frederick H. Magill, former bank official of this town, and his bride, who are under arrest in San Diego, on the charge of murdering Magill's first wife on May 31.

The warrant for Magill's arrest was sworn out after State's Attorney Arthur F. Miller investigated the death of Mrs. Pet Gandy Magill, despite the inquest conducted by Coroner Cyrus Jones on the day of Mrs. Magill's death, which resulted in a verdict of "suicide."

"I was compelled to take the action," said Attorney Miller today, "because public sentiment demanded that the matter be sifted to the bottom. I charged both Mr. Magill and his bride with murder. I think we can convict Magill. The circumstantial evidence is amazingly strong. As to the girl, I almost hope she will be proven innocent, yet the circumstances are decidedly against her. She was as nice a girl as there was in town until she got under the influence of Magill.

Something Crooked About Inquest?

"Ever since it was learned here that Fred Magill and Faye Graham were married great pressure has been brought to bear on me. Yesterday E. L. Hoffman, county supervisor, advised me to act at once."

Until today State's Attorney Miller had been guarded in his utterances concerning the evidence he has against Magill. There is an endless string of rumors current about the circumstances of Mrs. Magill's death, some of which are well founded. These especially bear on the inquest.

"I will say that I believe there was something crooked about the inquest," declared Mr. Miller. "For that reason I will have the body exhumed, probably as soon as the sheriff arrives with the prisoners. There was little or no evidence at the inquest, and the entire findings I understand were suppressed by Coroner Jones."

Facts That Stirred Suspicion.

According to Miller the grounds on which the suspicion against Magill rests are:

The members of the coroner's jury all were intimate friends of Magill and called at his request.

The public was not allowed the facts about the death. Members of the jury declare that both Coroner Jones and Magill ordered strict secrecy.

The father of the dead woman, A. Gandy of Dayton, O., was unable to ascertain the cause of death, and since he attended the funeral has been insisting on an investigation.

Magill's attention to Faye Graham, the 19 year old girl who was his daughter's chum, and whom he married one month after his wife's death.

Letters alleged to have been written by Mrs. Pet Magill just prior to her death, especially "letter No. 5," which came to light several weeks after the inquest. This letter contained Mrs. Pet Magill's dying request that her husband marry Faye Graham.

The great haste with which Magill sold out and left town after his wife's death.

The lack of evidence showing that the woman ever contemplated suicide.

Magill's treatment of his first wife and her apparent fear of him, and the fact that she had once permitted a woman acquaintance of Magill's to live in their house. (This happened some years ago.)

Magill's general reputation.

His Queer Actions on Day of Death.

To the foregoing, which have been general talk about the town, State's Attorney Miller added some important discoveries he has made. These, in particular, were Magill's actions and statements upon the day of his wife's death, the impossibility of reconciling the position in which the body was found with the alleged cause of death, the way the woman died, and a "beer incident" of the night before she died. F. C. Davidson, postmaster, who was a member of the jury, concerning Magill's queer actions said:

"Fred called me up over the telephone the morning of his wife's death. He surprised me by suggesting, 'I'm afraid people will think I murdered my wife. I want you to be on the jury and do the best you can by me.'

"When I went to the house I saw that Fred had been drinking. He acted strangely. I don't think the inquest was a thorough one, nor do I think that Fred murdered his wife. I will say that, indirectly, he was responsible for her death. I think she went almost crazy over the way he carried on with the Graham girl."

Death Not Reported for Hours.

Fred Magill did not report the death of his wife for several hours after she died. It is said that the first one he informed was Faye Graham. The body was found covered with a blanket. In one arm the woman held a bowl of chloroform, in the other a sponge, and her head was wrapped tightly with a towel.

Mayor Edmundson, a physician, of Clinton, who has assisted Attorney Miller in the investigation, today said:

"In one of the letters purported to have been written by Mrs. Pet Magill, she stated that strychnine and chloroform would be used. If any strychnine is found in the body it will prove that the woman did not die with such apparent composure, because strychnine causes death with convulsions. It is improbable that a person could be asphyxiated by inhaling chloroform and retain such composure as to hold the bowl in the arm."

Girl He Married Involved.

Attorney Miller says he has a witness who will testify that the body bore bruises and dark marks about the throat. Also that Faye Graham was at the Magill house until a late hour the night Mrs. Magill died.

The "beer episode" was that Magill opened a bottle of beer just before he and his wife retired the night she died. He handed a glass to her and she drank it. He decided not to drink his glassful, and threw it in the sink. Soon after that Mrs. Magill became unconscious, according to Magill's own story.

A week after Pet Magill died Mr. Magill and Faye Graham attended a picnic together at Winsor's grove. Attorney Miller has a witness who will testify that three days after Mrs. Magill was buried Faye Graham called up Magill by phone, within the hearing of the witness, and a date for a buggy ride was set.

Letters Add to Mystery of Case.

The five "letters" were remarkable in their exoneration of Magill and for the fact that they outlined plans which he has pursued to the letter. One was addressed each to the father, A. Gandy, laying the blame for Mrs. Magill's suicide on the mother and sister of Magill; to the daughter, Marguerite, requesting her to accept Faye Graham as a guardian, and two to the husband, Fred Magill.

The "fifth letter" was sprung by Magill nearly a month after his wife's death. It requested that he marry Miss Graham "expediently." Magill dumfounded his friends by showing them this letter and asking their advice.

Coroner Jones thinks he made a pretty good job out of the inquest. He said he ordered secrecy for the sake of the family. He seemed to connect no particular value to the letters, all of which Mr. Magill retained in his possession.

None in Her Handwriting.

John Warner Jr., partner in the banking business in which Magill and his relatives were interested, who was a member of the coroner's jury, said:

"I have seen Mrs. Pet Magill's handwriting. The letters didn't look natural. It was larger and coarser than hers."

Ever since it was learned that Magill and Miss Graham were married Attorney Miller has been on a still hunt for the whereabouts of the couple, and Marguerite Magill, who accompanied them. By the slightest accident it was learned that Arthur Merwin, a pal of Magill's, received word from him Saturday stating, "We arrived here safely; are at the Robinson house," and dated from San Diego.

Magill Headed for Mexico.

"I was convinced," said Attorney Miller, "that Magill's intention was to cross the border into Mexico, so that he couldn't be arrested."

Fred Magill is a member of one of the first families of De Witt county. His father, Robert Magill, was one of four brothers, who settled in Clinton in 1853. They were contractors, and all became wealthy. They built part of the Illinois Central railroad in the early days.

The four brothers are dead, and are survived by their widows and children. Mrs. Eleanor Magill, widow of Samuel Magill, is said to be worth half a million. She is part owner of the John Warner bank, in which Fred worked. The other three widows of the original Magills are Fannie, wife of Henry Magill; Mary, wife of Williiam, and Lou, wife of Robert, mother of Fred.

Magill Known as Spendthrift.

Fred Magill was born in Clinton thirty-eight years ago. The Magill homes are among the handsomest in the town. The family is one of high esteem. Mrs. Eleanor Magill recently donated $15,000 for the erection of the Presbyterian church in Clinton.

From his youth up Fred has had the reputation of a spendthrift. At the age of 21 years he became possessor of a legacy of $60,000, left by his father. He always posed as a "good fellow" and "swell dresser." He spent the entire inheritance in less than three years.

His friends say he has been addicted to much drinking, so much so that at times his mother and aunts refused to assist him financially. Friends often interceded for him, and got the family to reimburse him upon the promise that he would keep sober.

Dead Wife His Best Friend.

Five years ago, when he was almost in want, Mrs. Pet Magill worked as a bookkeeper and supported the family. Through her influence he again took a new lease on life and his aunt, Mrs. Eleanor, got him a job in the Warner bank, and paid him $1,800 a year to keep straight. The manner in which he turned against his faithful wife for a girl in her teens has thoroughly disgusted his relatives and almost broken his mother's heart. Mrs. Lou Magill denied herself to visitors yesterday.

"This is the final blow," she remarked sadly tonight. "Fred has been a wayward boy, but we did the best possible by him. I can't believe these terrible stories about him. To say the least, he was not a cruel boy. He always was good natured. I don't believe he would harm any one."

Magill retained his job in the bank until eighteen months ago. Just prior to that time his mother, as a reward for his good behavior, deeded him property valued at $10,000. A little later he met the Graham girl and, it is said, lavished money upon her. Mrs. Magill was aware of this, but made no complaint. It is said she was compelled to entertain the Graham girl as a guest.

Faye Graham is the only child of W. W. Graham, a pioneer real estate dealer of Clinton. Mr. and Mrs. Graham did not learn of the arrest until late yesterday.

"I have nothing to say about the affair," said the aged man. "There is plenty of talk without me saying anything. We were not aware that the relationship was anything more than a fascination between Faye and Marguerite."

Mrs. Graham said Faye wrote to her telling of her marriage.

Magill to Make Hard Fight.

San Diego, Cal., July 14.—[Special.]—Frederick H. Magill of Clinton, Ill., and his second wife, Mrs. Faye Graham Magill, who were arrested last night at the Hotel Robinson by Chief of Police Moulton on the charge of having murdered Magill's first wife in Clinton, will make no fight against the case at this end of the line, but will make strenuous denial of the accusations when they get back to Clinton for trial.

Such was the statement today of their attorney, Eugene Dancy, who was one of three men Magill and his wife consented to see, the others being Chief Moulton and Judge J. Wade McDonald, another attorney and a friend of Magill's family in Illinois. To all newspaper men they sent a curt denial.

At the jail Mr. and Mrs. Magill were not separated, at the request of State's Attorney Miller of Clinton.

Though they would not talk today, some things indicated that they were expecting trouble in some form. There is a story afloat to the effect that Magill had intended to leave the country, and that at the time of his arrest he was awaiting the arrival of an automobile which was to take them to Mexico.

Lived in Style on Coast.

During the short time the party has been here they have had the best suite of rooms at the Hotel Robinson and Magill has met a number of business men, having brought with him some excellent letters of introduction to the business and social life of the city.

His bride is a striking brunette and has attractive manners. His daughter, Miss Marguerite Magill, is nearly 18 years old, just a year younger than the bride, and also possesses great beauty. Officers who witnessed the arrest of Magill said that at the time he hotly protested his innocence.

"This is all a conspiracy," he declared to the officers. "Relatives are to blame. My first wife committed suicide and now my enemies are accusing me of having murdered her. This is a terrible thing, but my wife and daughter and I are absolutely innocent. I hope that the officers soon will arrive from the east so that we can all go back as soon as possible to meet our accusers and prove our innocence."

Eager to Get Back to Clinton.

The arrested man went further and offered to pay the expenses and also the time of any officer Chief Moulton might designate to take him back to Illinois and deliver the entire party to the officials of De Witt county. He declared that if such an arrangement could be made he would gladly pay every item and would be ready to leave on the "owl train" two hours after his arrest.

The conversation of the three showed, however, that they were not taken entirely by surprise, for the daughter, turning to the father, asked:

"Hadn't I better send a telegram to [mentioning the name of some one in Decatur, Ill.) You know he told me to let him know if there was any trouble."

The father's reply was not heard, and it is not known whether or not she sent the dispatch.

CHECK WILD RACES IN AUTO CONTEST.

Rigid Rules to Be Enforced by Officials in Charge of Glidden Tour.

PACEMAKER TO GO AHEAD

All Arrangements Completed for an Early Morning Start on the Run to New York.

Except for filling their gasoline tanks, which were emptied at the First regiment armory to comply with Chicago insurance regulations, the tourists in the Glidden-Hower trophy contests had everything ready last evening for the start on their 1,200 mile run to New York.

This morning between 7 and 9 o'clock the long line of automobiles will "check out" in front of the Auditorium Annex and start for South Bend, Ind. by the same route as the one by which they came to Chicago on Friday. The conditions, however, under which the run is to be made will be radically different from those which governed the trip to Chicago.

At a conference of the American Automobile association officials who are in charge of the tour it was decided, in view of the experience of the first three days of the run, that the contesting machines should not be left to govern themselves on the road according to their own caprices, as they have been thus far.

Hower Will Set the Pace.

During the remainder of the tour Chairman Frank B. Hower of the executive committee will start at the beginning of each day's run half an hour ahead of the first contestant and act as pacemaker throughout the day. No car will be allowed to pass the pacemaker unless his machine should be disabled, in which event car No. 1 in the line will take his place. The pacemaker will set a pace which, in his judgment, all the cars in the line can follow, and will aim to reach the destination for the day half an hour ahead of the schedule to allow for possible breakdowns and delays.

In addition to this regulation, each car will be given, as it starts, a card on which a number is conspicuously painted, the numbers being in rotation and representing the car's place in the line. The contesting cars will then be expected to maintain the order in which they started, except in the event of breakdowns or evident "soldiering" on the part of some one.

Six and a quarter hours, the same time allowance as on Friday, will be the schedule for today's run. From Chicago the run to New York will be continuous except for a stopover on Sunday at Bedford Springs.

Route for Rest of Run.

In detail the route for the remainder of the run is as follows:

	Miles.
Monday, July 15, Chicago to South Bend	105.1
Tuesday, July 16, South Bend to Indianapolis	147.5
Wednesday, July 17, Indianapolis to Columbus	174.2
Thursday, July 18, Columbus to Canton	150.6
Friday, July 19, Canton to Pittsburg	99.8
Saturday, July 20, Pittsburg to Bedford Sp'gs.	97.2
Monday, July 22, Bedford Sp'gs to Baltimore	140.2
Tuesday, July 23, Baltimore to Philadelphia	171.9
Wednesday, July 24, Philadelphia to New York.	98.2

Persistent rumors that fifteen cars had withdrawn from the run in a body circulated about the Annex during the day. These were erroneous, no withdrawals having been made since William A. Badger withdrew his runabout, No. 115, on Saturday. Mr. Badger was called away on business.

Arrested for Speeding in Evanston.

Two automobiles, carrying parties of Glidden tourists, expecting to spend the afternoon at Ravinia park, were delayed an hour in Evanston, when their chauffeurs, Charles P. Clark of Worcester, Mass., and J. Wigren, 290 North State street, Chicago, who said he was chauffeur for Harold F. McCormick, were arrested for exceeding the speed limit. Clark, after admitting he was exceeding the speed limit, paid $17 as a deposit for the fine which will be imposed this morning. Wigren gave bonds for appearance on Wednesday.

One of the occupants of the car driven by Clark bore the entry number 105, Glidden tour, on his coat, but refused to give his name. Officials of the tour said that entry number 105 is held by J. C. Zimmerman, 1440 Michigan avenue, Chicago.

Zion City's chief of police and his revolver again confronted autoists as they sped through the north shore city at more than legal speed. Several of the speeders got away from him, but five surrendered when they saw the gun trained on their tires. The autoists arrested gave the following names: C. F. Dunbar, Edgewater; R. Vehon, Halsted street, Chicago; T. C. Davis, Neenah, Wis.; Randolph Levershon, Chicago; Peter D. Kelley, Chicago. All were released on $10 each bonds.

SIX KILLED, TWENTY INJURED IN WRECK CAUSED BY BLUNDER

Mistake of Railroad Telegraph Operator Sends Train on Southern Railway Crashing Into Switch Engine.

Johnson City, Tenn., July 14.—Six persons, all negroes, were killed and twenty injured when east bound vestibule No. 42 on the Southern railway collided with a switch engine one mile west of Johnson City tonight. The wreck was the result of an error in taking train orders made by a telegraph operator.

The engine of the passenger train, baggage and mail car, and second class coach were derailed and overturned, but the switch engine was not lifted from the rails, and, with a full head of steam, started on a wild run, which was not ended until a switch was thrown for it and it was ditched at Carnegie.

The lives of the mail clerks on the train were saved because of the fact that their car was of heavy steel construction. This heavy car, however, played havoc with the light second class coach behind, which was occupied by a party of twenty negroes.

Congressman Landis in Wreck.

Memphis, Tenn., July 14.—[Special.]—A south bound passenger train on the Frisco road collided with a freight train at 11 o'clock Saturday night, injuring about thirty people, more or less seriously. Congressman Charles B. Landis of Delphi, Ind., turned a double somersault over two seats and escaped with bad bruises.

Woman Also Claims Baby Drinks Three Bottles of "Suds" Daily—Judge Doubts the Story.

Middleboro, Mass., July 14.—[Special.]—"My 7 months old baby drinks three bottles of beer a day. I drink a keg of it a day, and my husband drinks the rest of $4 worth," Mrs. Caroline Lemmo told the police court magistrate yesterday.

The judge refused to believe the story, and fined her $75 for "bootlegging." Mrs. Lemmo admitted that she has received 224 gallons of beer, besides other liquors, in the last three months.

She said her husband earned $9 a week, and the beer bill was $28 a week. She didn't know how she made up the difference, but was sure that she and her husband and baby consumed all the liquor, and that they did not keep liquor for sale.

Too Much Speed in Rounding a Corner in Sheridan Road.

OCCUPANTS ARE THROWN OUT

C. C. Smith and Guests Escape with Slight Injury by Quick Action.

Speeding round a curve in Sheridan road, a mile south of Fort Sheridan, yesterday afternoon, an automobile party consisting of Charles C. Smith, president of the Charles C. Smith company, 171 La Salle street, and four guests were hurled to the ground by the overturning of the machine.

A chauffeur was in charge of the car, and, although he had been warned about making "fast corners," his speed at the turn was estimated at twenty miles an hour.

Saved by Quick Action.

The wheels skidded, and only the action of the occupants in throwing themselves to the far side of the car prevented it from "turning turtle." The only injuries confessed were sprained arms by Mr. Smith and one of the women in the car.

The machine was wrecked so that it could not proceed, and the party made its way to the home of Evanston friends by trolley cars. There they arranged to have the automobile towed to Mr. Smith's house at 1040 Evanston avenue.

Artist Hurled Against Lamppost.

August Sundmacher, 53 years old, 918 North Halsted street, a painter, suffered severe bruises on the head in the morning when he drove his automobile against a curbstone, being hurled out of the machine and against a lamppost. He was driving the automobile west in Diversey boulevard near the Chicago and Northwestern tracks, when the steering gear broke and he was unable to guide the machine. It swerved to one side and Sundmacher was hurled from the car.

Sundmacher was taken to the Alexian Brothers' hospital and afterward to his home. His injuries are said to be not serious.

Samuel Insull Rejoices That Boy Who Hit Him with Stone as He Was Autoing Has Been Found.

On returning from a trip in the east yesterday, Samuel Insull, president of the Chicago Edison company, was delighted to learn that the Evanston police had found the boy who, last Tuesday, hit him in the eye with a stone as he was riding in his auto. His rejoicing was due to the fact that now he could secure satisfactory evidence of the cause of the "shiner" concerning which his New York friends expressed laughing doubts.

"I don't want to prosecute the boy, and if I do it will be only to get the case on record," he said.

The stone thrower is John Ludwig, 12 years old, 917 Madison street, Evanston. He has not been arrested.

St. Louis Woman Refuses to Surrender Sum Held and Invested for Former Lumber Merchant.

St. Louis, Mo., July 14.—[Special.]—Charles Linsenmann, a former lumber merchant of this city, has filed in the Circuit court a deposition taken last April in Salem, Idaho, where he now resides, for the recovery of $18,400 he claims he gave Miss Emma Hanser of 2626 California avenue to take care of for him. He turned the money over to her early in 1904, he says, and told her he was not on good terms with his wife and did not want her to know where he kept his money.

Miss Hanser was then tending bar in a saloon owned by her father at Second and Sidney streets.

He made no objection when she proposed buying property with the money in the name of her sister.

Miss Hanser does not deny Linsenmann gave her money, but said she had retained counsel to plead statute limitation as a bar to recovery.

DROWNINGS OF THE SEASON.....336

Ferdinand Arndt, 23 years old, 255 Lafin street, was drowned yesterday in an abandoned stone quarry at Summit, Ill., and his brother, William, nearly drowned in attempting to rescue him.

After swimming across the hole several times Ferdinand was taken with cramps and he called to his brother for aid. William threw a board toward his brother and then jumped into the water to save him. He caught Ferdinand by the shoulder and the latter struggled so frantically that William was obliged to release his hold to save his own life. The body was recovered.

Michael C. McDermott, 14 years old, 3538 Wabash avenue, rescued a young woman from drowning at Manhattan beach in a manner which called forth the admiration of the many spectators on shore. The young woman, whose name was not learned by the boy, fell from the pier on which she was sitting. She sank twice before the boy, who dived from the pier, reached her. She was unconscious when he brought her to shore after a great effort.

"TOM" PLATT, ONCE A POWER, PASSES BIRTHDAY NEGLECTED

Republican Politicians of New York, Who Once Bowed Before "Boss," Forget Former Ruler of the Party.

New York, July 14.—[Special.]—Down at the Oriental hotel an old man will celebrate his seventy-fourth birthday tomorrow alone. Not so long ago it was his summer capital, the Mecca for republican politicians of high and low degree, who bowed low before the senior United States senator from New York, and to whom his nod was a command.

Today he is only Thomas C. Platt, a man without a home, bereft of the last vestige of his old time power; all but forgotten.

Instead of receiving visitors on the hotel piazza, as was his wont, the senator will stay in his room.

When a reporter called tonight he was sitting between his two attendants, Mr. and Mrs. Abel, in whose apartment he has been living since he left the Hotel Gotham.

"They tell me I'll be 74 tomorrow," he said. "I suppose I will be, if I live. You are the first person, though, who offered me congratulations."

"You are planning for a little celebration, aren't you, for tomorrow?" he was asked. "Who of your old friends are coming down to see you?"

"None that I know of. We are here just by ourselves, and I don't expect any visitors. Nobody said he was coming, anyway."

"What sort of a birthday message are you going to send to your old friends?" he was asked.

"Nothing tonight," he replied, indicating that he was tired and motioning to his attendant to prepare to assist him to rise. "I may think of something tomorrow, but tonight my brain is sort of befuddled. I'm tired. Good night."

ARREST WITNESS FOR HAYWOOD

Officers Take Dr. McGee Into Custody at Spokane on a Charge of Perjury.

Boise, Idaho, July 14.—Dr. McGee, one of the witnesses for the defense in the trial of William D. Haywood for the murder of Frank Steunenberg, was arrested at Spokane tonight on a charge of perjury. He waived extradition, and is expected to arrive in Boise some time tomorrow. A deputy sheriff of Spokane will accompany him.

Tonight the defense claims to have discovered new evidence to show that Orchard's maternal grandfather was a maniac on the subject of crime and that he formerly lived in Canada, and there are other intimations of possible delay. Judge Fremont Wood, however, intimates to counsel that the case must be concluded. He points out that by limiting the scope of the examinations of witnesses on both sides the hearing might have been much shortened, but that he was desirous of giving every opportunity to counsel to develop their cases in direct.

Now, however, the situation is different, and further delay would be an injustice to the state, while the continued confinement of the jury would reopen the case. The hearing enters its tenth week tomorrow, and it is expected will consume two weeks more.

PEACE MAY COME IN WIRE DISPUTE

Chicago Operators Get Word from San Francisco That Strike Is Broken.

COMPANIES DENY REPORT.

Local Men Maintain Quiet Attitude While Mediator Neill Works on Problem.

While Chicago telegraph operators yesterday were completing strike plans a report was received from San Francisco that trouble there practically had been settled. According to the story from the coast a mass meeting was held late Saturday night in Oakland, at which the operators were told speedy settlement of their dispute with the Western Union and Postal companies was sure.

M. J. Reidy of Boston and S. J. Konenkamp, deputy president of the telegraphers' national union, and President Small all were quoted as having said the trouble was near an end.

Meanwhile the local officials of the two telegraph companies in San Francisco denied any change in their attitude. They said they were willing to meet Labor Commissioner Neill and live up to the letter written to the commissioner by President Clowry of the Western Union in New York.

It is known that Mr. Neill expects to renew negotiations with the telegraph officials today.

Quiet in Chicago.

The situation in Chicago was quiet all day. The men here are anxious that Commissioner Neill be given all the opportunity he wishes to end the wire troubles amicably. They admit frankly that they think he will fail, and say that by standing aside until he throws up his hands their contentions will be strengthened when the break they believe inevitable finally comes.

Advantage was taken of the lull to make some additional strike plans to be followed in case trouble develops. One was the preparation of a strike "chart"—probably the first of its kind to be employed in labor disputes.

Make "Strike Chart."

The "chart" consists of the names of every union and nonunion operator in the city. The telegraphers are classified according to branch offices, and the location of each telegraph station is marked on a map of the city.

Chairman E. M. Moore of the local executive board, who had twenty-five members at work on the chart during the day, said in case of a strike it would enable the union officials to direct operations quickly in any locality.

"We also are gathering data regarding conditions in each station," said Mr. Moore, "which we propose to use to advantage if a walkout is declared."

Training Schools Picketed.

The telegraphers picketed three training schools for operators about the city, but failed to obtain evidence that strikebreakers are being recruited in these places. Messages were sent to various cities through which the two carloads of strikebreakers which left Chicago for Oakland last Saturday night will pass, instructing telegraphers in these places to be on the lookout for the men and to make efforts to dissuade the operators from continuing their journey.

"We do not believe the telegraph companies can make much use of the 'beginners,'" said General Secretary Russell of the union. "At least a year's training is necessary before an operator becomes efficient. The fact that the companies have been forced to fall back on the training schools for men shows the scarcity of experienced operators throughout the country."

O. R. T. May Give Aid.

A report was current that the Order of Railway Telegraphers, the brother organization of the commercial key men, will order a special strike assessment for the benefit of the latter.

J. Dal Jones, chief telegrapher of the Chicago division, said no action has been taken as to the matter, although the railway operators are considering such a move.

MAGOON'S LETTER ENDS STRIKE

Governor in Havana Unwittingly Settles Cigar Factory Differences—Workers Win Payment Demands.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

HAVANA, July 14.—The cigar factories owned by the tobacco trust will reopen Tuesday. Some of the independent factories will reopen tomorrow. The end of the strike is caused by a peculiar circumstance. July 5 Gov. Magoon wrote to the independent manufacturers declining their invitation to act as arbitrator and outlining his views concerning the payment of the men in American money. The general trend of his letter was in favor of the strikers. By mistake the letter went to the strikers, whereupon they published it, declaring their cause had been upheld by Gov. Magoon. This weakened the manufacturers, who were losing anyhow, and they decided to reopen their factories.

STANDARD OIL FACES STRIKE.

Walkout All Over Country Will Go Out on Tuesday, According to Philadelphia Statement.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 14.—Announcement was made at a meeting of the Central Labor union here today that all firemen in the employ of the Standard Oil company would go on a strike on Tuesday. Several thousand men will be affected throughout the country. The trouble, it is said, is the result of the company demanding that the men leave the union.

MINERS TO PRESS DEMANDS.

Delegates Gather at Denver to Present Demand for Wage Increase—Harriman Mine Will Fight.

Denver, Colo., July 14.—[Special.]—Delegates from the United Mine Workers of Wyoming are gathering here for the conference with the operators. John Mitchell will have charge of the case of the miners. The managers of the Harriman Union Pacific coal mines say they will refuse the demand of the men for a 15 per cent increase in wages. Mitchell expects to make a compromise.

NEW YORK TAILORS TO STRIKE.

Forty Thousand Men to Stop Work in Fight for Nine Hour Day and Wage Advance.

Forty thousand tailors, including unions in Newark, Brooklyn, Brownsville, and this city, will strike tomorrow. They demand a nine hour day and a 10 per cent advance in wages.

CHICAGO GETTING HEALTHIER; JULY DEATH RATE AWAY DOWN.

Thirteen Days Indicate Month Will Be a Record Breaker—Other Large Cities Already Eclipsed.

Chicago, already leading the large cities of the country in healthfulness, is making a new record in July, the month of the highest mortality rate. Since 1877 the average death rate for the month has been 23.05 for each 1,000 population. In the first decade the average was 29.18, in the second 25.2, and in the third 14.77. For the first thirteen days of the present month, according to the weekly reports of the health department, there have been 886 deaths. This represents a rate of only 11.6.

OUSTED; SEEKS TO KNOW WHY

Woman Suspended by Church Says Charges Are Secret.

HUSBAND KNOWS, WON'T TELL

"Two Awful for Christian to Hear," He Says; Denial by Trustees.

Is it the duty of a husband to reveal to his wife the nature of "grave" charges brought against her by the board of trustees of the church of which she is a member? This is the question that confronts Walter West, 508 Wood street, whose wife, Mrs. Louise West, was suspended from the Porter Memorial Congregational church, 498 Paulina street. Yesterday West answered the question in the negative.

Mrs. West said she was anxious that the charges be made known to herself and to the public. West found out Saturday night what they are, but he told his wife that, as she is troubled with heart disease, he would "never in this world tell her, because the charges are too awful for any Christian woman to hear." Mrs. West insisted she did not know why the trustees suspended her.

Trustees Say Woman Knows.

Members of the board, however, said that Mrs. West knew all about the charges and that it would be un-Christian to give them out when the woman knew what they were. Edward Baber, chairman of the board and deacon of the church, said a "certain time of grace" had been given Mrs. West in which to appear before the board and clear herself of the charges.

This was denied by Mrs. West, who said she has been tried, found guilty, and condemned without having an opportunity to prove her innocence.

"Even a poor criminal gets better treatment from the civil courts than that" said Mrs. West. "It is true that Deacon Baber told my husband of some charge against me, but he won't tell me what it is."

A meeting of the trustees probably will be held next Wednesday, when final action will be taken expelling Mrs. West, unless she asks for a hearing before that time.

Lays Trouble to Gossipers.

"This whole trouble was started by gossiping women," said Mrs. West. "Even Deacon Baber is a gossiper or he would come out in the open and state to me why he and the others want to get rid of me. I won't ask for a hearing until they tell me what the charges are."

"Mrs. West knows what she is charged with and she knows she is guilty or she would have called for a hearing long ago," said Mr. Baber. "Any time she wants a hearing up to a certain time we will grant it gladly, and we are disposed to temper justice with mercy."

The Rev. Andrew Turkinson, temporary pastor of the church, said he knew nothing about the charges against Mrs. West.

"I am indifferent to the whole trouble," said he. "I want to be kept out of it, if I can. I am going back to County Ulster, Ireland, soon."

Later he admitted that he was present at the meeting at which action against Mrs. West was taken. Mrs. West said the Rev. Edward Drew, who recently resigned as pastor of the church, had nothing to do with the upheaval and should not be dragged into the trouble.

UMPIRE, ATTACKED BY MOB, SLASHES TWO ASSAILANTS.

Disturbance Is Quelled by South Chicago Police, Who Take John Cieslowski Into Custody.

Three men were injured in a riot at a ball game in Bessemer park, South Chicago, yesterday afternoon. Lieut. Smith, at the head of a number of policemen, quelled the disturbance and arrested the umpire, John Cieslowski.

The Injured.

CIESLOWSKI, JOHN, umpire; face and hands cut.

NOVAK, WILLIAM, 8714 Houston avenue; cut in left side; taken to South Chicago hospital; condition critical.

The Maroons and Eclipse nines, teams of the south side suburb, were playing when a decision made by Cieslowski in favor of the Maroons angered the members of the opposing team. A rush was made for him, he was knocked to the ground, and was being pounded by as many as could reach him, when he drew a knife and slashed two of his assailants.

Joseph Mecan, 14 years old, 12320 Peoria street, while playing baseball was struck accidentally on the forehead by a bat in the hands of Joseph Norsick, 19 years old, 12325 Peoria street, and seriously injured.

CARS HARVEST FOR DEATH.

Two Persons Killed Outright and Two Die of Former Injuries.

BOY'S LIMBS ARE MANGLED.

Woman Falls While Alighting and Her Skull Is Fractured.

Two persons were killed yesterday by street cars and two died from injuries received in previous accidents.

The Dead.

BERMAN, HENRY, 59 years old, 619 Burling street, conductor on Riverview park car; crushed between two cars on Saturday at Clark and Washington street; died in Passavant hospital.

KOJAN, JOHN, 38 years old, 2352 Union avenue, a woodworker; fell under wheels while alighting from car at Jefferson avenue and Fifty-fifth street.

PACCIMAS, ANTONE, 22 years old, 233 West Twenty-third street; run down at Eighty-seventh street and Cottage Grove avenue.

TAFT, MRS. GEORGE M., 55 years old, 5649 Cottage Grove avenue; struck by car on June 20; died in Chicago hospital.

The Injured.

ROSS, EDWARD, 8 years old, 393 Superior street; right leg and left arm broken by Wells street car, which struck him as he ran on the track to escape man who was attacking him.

WAGNER, MISS LENA, 30 years old, of Gross Point; jumped backward from an Evanston street car while it was going full speed; skull fractured; taken to Evanston hospital; recovery doubtful.

The crew of an east bound North avenue electric car that struck a buggy, overturning it and injuring two of its occupants, is being sought by the police. The accident occurred at the intersection of the St. Paul tracks shortly after 9 o'clock last night. Celia Krell, 24 years old, 826 West North avenue, and Max Lanxer, 20 years old, 827 Montana street, were cut and bruised.

The car stopped after the accident, but when the conductor saw the extent of the accident he is said to have signaled the motorman to start and the car sped on, despite the entreaties of passengers.

NEGRO DETECTIVE ASSAILED WHEN HE WOUNDS WHITE MAN

Small Race Riot Follows Colored Policeman's Attempt to Protect Daughter on Way to Church.

The shooting of William Bell, 42 years old, 139 North Carpenter street, by William H. Hall, a colored detective of the central detective bureau, for an alleged insult to the latter's 17 year old daughter, Flora, almost resulted in a race riot at Division and Larrabee streets last night. As Bell fell to the sidewalk, with a shot in the right thigh, a crowd of his companions pounced upon the policeman.

Hall broke away, and, by threatening the crowd with his revolver, held it at bay until the arrival of a wagonload of police from the Chicago avenue station. Even after the arrival of the reinforcements the mutterings of the mob did not cease until three of the detectives drew their revolvers.

At the hospital the physicians said Bell's wound was not dangerous.

After a struggle, in which Nels Marling, 60 years old, was beaten and thrown off a Halsted street car, the conductor and motorman were forced to flee from a bombardment of bricks hurled by angry passengers and bystanders, who sympathized with the victim of the attack. The trouble arose over a dispute over fare.

FORMER "COACH" TO PREACH.

"Baseball Evangelist" Henderson to Conduct Services at Methodist Camp Meeting at Desplaines.

A former baseball coach will be the special evangelist at all the evening meetings of the forty-eighth annual Methodist camp meeting, which will begin next Wednesday evening at Desplaines.

He is the Rev. Theodore S. Henderson of New York, field superintendent of the general conference commission of aggressive evangelism. The Rev. Hugh E. Smith, Los Angeles, Cal., also will speak at the evening meetings.

Bishop W. F. McDowell of Chicago will preach Sunday morning, July 21, and Bishop W. H. Warren, Denver, Colo., will preach Sunday morning, July 28. The Rev. Dr. W. A. Quayle will preach both Sunday afternoons and each morning during the week between the two Sundays. Other special speakers will be the Rev. Joseph H. Smith, Redlands, Cal., and the Rev. Dr. George Elliott of Chicago.

DEFENDS BAND IN CHURCH; PUTS IN MORE MUSICIANS.

Necessary to Stir Things Up, Says the Rev. Johnston Myers, in Order to Make Religion a Success.

"Sensation in Religion," based upon the stir caused among church workers by his introduction of a brass band at the services, was the topic selected for last night's discourse by the Rev. Johnston Myers at the Immanuel Baptist church. The band had been increased from thirty-five to sixty pieces and the edifice was crowded to the doors.

"To make religion a success you have got to stir up things and make it attractive," the minister said. "We have sensations in the board of trade and other things secular, and why should they not be a help to religion? I believe that I have quite the proper thing with this band as an attraction. I was appealed to by one man who thought it was not exactly the right thing in church, but when I questioned that man I learned he was neither an attendant at any church nor a contributor toward the support of one. So I cannot allow that man's objections any standing."

At the aftermeeting W. E. Watt, leader of the band, rose.

"I have been misrepresented as belonging to no church," said he. "I wish to tell you people that I am a local preacher of the Methodist church, and when we sing 'Rock of Ages' or any of the old familiar tunes I blow those words from my heart with the same sincerity as they leave your mouths."

MAD DOG TURNS ON HIS MASTER

Fox Terrier at End of Chain Causes Excitement at Entrance of Postoffice—Animal Shot.

A fox terrier suddenly becoming mad and turning on his owner caused considerable excitement at the Clark street entrance of the main postoffice at 9 o'clock last evening. August Napier, 211 Illinois street, who owns the dog, with Mrs. Napier had come downtown, having the dog attached to a chain. Policeman John O'Brien of the central detail rushed up before the dog could attack anyone except his master, dragged the animal to the alley in the rear of the Grand Pacific hotel, and shot it.

POLICEMAN FALLS INTO SEWER.

Narrowly Escapes Drowning and Injures Both Legs When Running to Investigate Supposed Shooting.

While running to investigate a revolver shot in the vicinity of the Oakley avenue station of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad last night, Policeman John L. Sullivan fell into a deep sewer, narrowly escaped drowning, and received injuries to both legs. He was rescued from the water filled trench by Policeman Thomas Duffy, who accompanied him.

CORPSE TAKEN FROM VAULT REPORTED TURNED TO STONE.

Undertakers Claim to Have Found One of the Strangest Cases on Record at Mount Olivet Cemetery.

What is asserted by Chicago undertakers to be one of the strangest cases on record was disclosed yesterday afternoon when the casket containing the body of Miss Mary M. Angell, 22 years old, was taken from a vault in Mount Olivet cemetery to be sent to Connelsville, Pa. The body, it is claimed, had the appearance of having been cut from marble by a master sculptor and was as white as snow.

Rainey Brothers, undertakers at Emerald avenue and Thirty-fifth street, say the casket required the strength of six men to hoist it into the waiting conveyance, while on Dec. 11, 1906, the corpse weighed only 110 pounds.

The young woman lived at 4509 Prairie avenue at the time of her death. It is thought that tuberculosis was the cause. The body was taken to Mount Olivet and placed in a vault three days later.

"It is without exception the strangest case of petrification brought to my notice," said Mr. Rainey. "I have heard of buried bodies becoming petrified, but never before have I heard of a case of a body undergoing any noticeable chemical change in a vault."

SERVANT OFFERS HER SAVINGS FOR RETURN OF DOG SHE LOST.

Girl from Norway Ready to Pay $30 to Finder of Barney, Fox Terrier Loved by Mistress.

New York, July 14.—"Reward—If the finder of a poor working girl's pet fox terrier, very small, with tan and black markings, will return it, she will give all her savings. 358 West Twenty-third street."

There is a model servant at 358 West Twenty-third street. Anna Johnson is her name. She came to this country from Norway eleven months ago, and since then has saved $30. Then her mistress' pet fox terrier was lost while in Anna's care, and she now is advertising that she will give her entire savings for the return of the terrier, Barney.

"I take those two dogs," she said, "Barney and Trace, out for a walk on the fourth of July. My mistress she love Barney, who is a fox terrier. Trace stay by me; Barney run away. Then I sorry. Barney he nice dog. I go to my mistress and I say: 'I feel so sorry I lose Barney. I am willing to pay for him. I have $30 saved. I give it for reward.'"

Anna was asked who wrote the advertisement.

"My lady's husband, he wrote it," she said. "I tell him I will give the $30."

"Did he tell you he would give you the $30 back if the dog was returned?"

"No, he not tell me that. It was my fault that the dog is lost and I will pay."

CATHOLIC TELLS OF NATION'S NEED

Bishop Schrembs at Indianapolis Conference Says Religion Must Be Upheld.

MAKES PLEA FOR CHURCH

Nazarene's Divinity, He Asserts, Has Been Proven Despite Science's Attacks.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 14.—[Special.]—That the Savior's influence is strong in twentieth century affairs was the declaration of the Rt. Rev. Joseph Schrembs of Detroit in his address tonight before the American Confederation of Catholic Societies.

In the morning the delegates and visitors attended pontifical high mass at St. Peter and St. Paul's cathedral. The Rt. Rev. Francis Silas Catard, bishop of Indianapolis, presided at the night meeting. The notable feature was the appearance of his excellency, the Most Rev. Diemed Falconio, apostolic delegate to the United States.

Country Needs Savior.

In opening his address the Rev. Schrembs declared that the great Tom Burke in one of his lectures on a certain occasion asked a poor Irishman what was the real business of a Catholic priest. The answer was: "I suppose to tell us to go to the devil."

"When I propose to speak to this great gathering tonight," continued the speaker, "on 'Christ and the Twentieth Century,' it is not my purpose to denounce the present age, but to show how our country needs Christ and Christ's spirit to bring it to its fullest perfection."

The Rev. Schrembs then dwelt at length on the achievements of the twentieth century, and said:

"Religion and its precepts are treated as the superstitions of a gone-by age. The swaddling clothes of mankind, which have been outgrown, may now be thrown aside as useless—yea, harmful—to true progress. The church of Jesus Christ is the central point of attack, and louder than ever is the cry raised 'Ecrasez l'infame.'"

Says Divinity Is Proved.

"The research of modern historians has wrought havoc with many accepted stories of antiquity, and many are the fond narratives that have fallen under the mighty blow of its destructive hammer.

"One short period alone has been able to withstand the terrible onslaught, and that is the period from the year one to the year thirty-three.

"What do we find here? In spite of all the combined efforts of the enemies of religion, in spite of the fearful tunnelings of the highest of the high critics, we behold the sublime image of Jesus Christ in the undiminished splendor of historic certainty and crowned with the indestructible diadem of his divinity. Jesus Christ yesterday, today and forever.

"Christ is and ever will remain the greatest educator, the only savior of the world. To Christ, then, must our century turn for inspiration. He alone can be its savior."

The speaker then spoke of the conditions that would follow a society without any religion. He said:

"Try to conceive, if you can, a society totally bereft of the salutary influence of Christian principles; totally destroy the molding power which has gone forth from the bosom of the Christian family into society, and then let a Godless philosophy with its hollow humanitarian theories show what it can accomplish to save the human race. No friends, Christ alone is the true educator."

Raised Woman from Slavery.

Discussing what the Christian religion has done for women, he said:

"Women had been the white slave of man, the toy of his passion and caprice. Christ restored her to her rightful position and dignity as a wife and mother. Like unto a heavenly vision the Christian mother guides her child and no abyss of misery or degradation is so deep that the love of a mother will not find it."

In conclusion the speaker said: "Friends, we are with children of that blessed Catholic church which has not surrendered the faith and to which the longing eyes and weary heart of the earnest believers of disintegrating Protestants are turning."

"The same glorious shield of Christ's divinity once held up by the hands of the great apostle, St. Peter, to the wondering gaze of a pagan world is still shining with undiminished splendor in the hands of his glorious successor, Pontiff Pope Pius X. In the holy blessing of that faith we will consecrate our lives to God and our dying breath shall be, 'Jesus, my Lord, my God.'"

Tomorrow the first business session of the federation will take place.

NEGRO CUTS WOMAN'S THROAT.

Declares Victim Is His Wife, but She Says Another Man Is Her Husband.

John H. Payne, 3004 State street, a negro waiter, went to 1730 Oak avenue, Evanston, late last night, called Madge Gash to the door, and severed her windpipe with a penknife. Payne said the woman was his wife, but she asserted she was living with her husband, Sam Gash, also a waiter. The woman was taken to the Evanston hospital in a critical condition.

DENEEN IN CITY FOR CONFERENCE

Governor Will Consult Advisers Today on Plans for Renomination Canvass.

IS CONFIDENT OF VICTORY

Congressman Cannon to Be Guest of Honor at F. W. Peck's Birthday Party.

Gov. Deneen came to Chicago last night and will have a general conference today with his lieutenants in the city on plans for his canvass for renomination. He does not expect to go to New York for the meeting of Illinois Central directors on Wednesday unless specially summoned today or tomorrow.

Although the governor declined to discuss the situation for publication, he is known to have told some friends that he has the utmost confidence of being renominated. In his opinion the question of the republican party's nominee will be settled within two weeks. By that time his own organization throughout the state will be practically complete and it will only remain for his opponents to decide whether they are warranted in fighting him.

Awaits Results of Petitions.

Deneen petitions are circulating in every congressional district in the state except one and, as the governor expressed it, the next two weeks will show the amount of sentiment in favor of his renomination. If the Deneen clubs show a large membership in a district that territory will be conceded to him. In districts where there is a small membership there will be a hard fight.

Mr. Deneen did not want it to appear that he was in the city for a general roundup of his local forces. He said he had telegraphed to three leaders to meet him today and that he expected to return to Springfield tonight.

As to a formal announcement of his ambition to succeed himself, he could say nothing definite. When it comes it will be in the shape of a platform on which he will bid for the support of the voters at the primary, but he thought it would not be given out this week. He is going right ahead with his organization of primary machinery and may make no announcement until other candidates get into the field.

May Attend Directors' Meeting.

The governor was inclined to deprecate the general excitement over his summons by Stuyvesant Fish to the Illinois Central directors' meeting. He thought he would not be needed, but, if necessary, he would go on short notice.

The business of the meeting is the election of a director to succeed the late John C. Welling. There are twelve living directors, and it takes eight votes to elect. Harriman controls eight votes, Fish three, and the governor makes the twelfth. Mr. Deneen admitted he had had a couple of letters from Mr. Fish, but he declined to reveal their contents or to confirm any suggestions as to what Fish is trying to do.

Cannon to Be Guest of Honor.

"Uncle Joe" Cannon will be the guest of honor today at a house party to be given by Ferdinand W. Peck at his country residence at Oconomowoc in celebration of the fifty-ninth anniversary of Mr. Peck's birth. There will be 100 or more Chicagoans at the party, including Charles G. Dawes, David R. Forgan, James B. Forgan, and John J. Mitchell. A special car on the Northwestern railway's 11:30 a. m. train will carry the guests to Oconomowoc. Chief among the amusements will be a golf tournament. An outdoor supper will be served, and the guests will remain overnight at Mr. Peck's house.

CLERK HAILED AS MILLIONAIRE.

Young Man Surprised at Sudden Adulation—Finds Joker Has Spread Story of Fortune Inherited.

A. Dayo Beatty, a stenographer residing at 6815 Champlain avenue, returned to Chicago yesterday from a visit to his mother in Springfield to find his reputation enhanced to a considerable degree. He found he was looked on as a millionaire by the young men of his acquaintance. Proud persons who never noticed him before took off their hats when he passed by. Mothers with marriageable daughters began to bestow on him most embarrassing attentions. He could not understand the change until he discovered that a friend of a joking turn of mind had given out the information that an uncle, a mythical William Bradley Chestershire of Liverpool, England, had died and left the young man a handsome fortune of $2,000,000. Beatty is hunting now for the perpetrator of the joke.

SERVIAN EDITOR IN DISFAVOR.

Fellow Countrymen in Chicago Join in Protest Against the Pretentious Claims of George Chokorilo.

Local Servian circles were thrown into an uproar of protest last evening by an announcement that George Chokorilo, former editor of the United Servians, the official organ of the Servian Brotherhood and Benevolent alliance, is to reappear in Chicago on the lecture platform.

During the last few months Chokorilo toured Montana and other western states under the title of "professor of Belgrade university." John R. Palendech, Michael S. Chuda, and other local leaders last evening declared he had no claim to that rank.

While for eighteen months editor of the United Servians Chokorilo's residence was in Chicago.

SETBACK TO REFORM PLANS.

Only Seventeen Persons Appear for Campaign Against Charter.

FEAR SCHEME TO AID DUNNE.

T. P. Quinn Shocks Hearers by Severe Censure of Former Mayor.

Save for a couple of disquieting speeches the concatenated federation of organizations opposing the new Chicago charter effected a characteristic inauguration of their campaign yesterday afternoon at the Jefferson club. When chairman Western Starr called the meeting to order he gazed out over an assemblage numbering exactly seventeen persons.

Louis F. Post was there to represent the new Public Policy club, and Wiley W. Mills the Jefferson club, and Raymond Robins uplifters in general. T. P. Quinn came as the spokesman of the Municipal Ownership league.

The disquieting element was furnished principally by Mr. Quinn, who shocked all present by his rude references to the man who for two years officially embodied the theories and aims of radical uplifting.

Fear a Political Trap.

"The reason there is not a large attendance here today," said Mr. Quinn, "may be easily explained. There is a fear on the part of the various organizations that they might be led into a political trap, the end of which would be the support of some candidate or candidates. I don't blame them—they have been fooled so often. The organizations expected to be represented here today are waiting to see whether this opposition to the charter is a political move.

"No one worked as hard as I did to elect Judge Dunne mayor of Chicago, and none worked so hard as I did to defeat him for reelection. I opposed him because I believed he betrayed municipal ownership, the referendum, and the cause of labor. But it should be made plain that there is no politics in this campaign against the charter."

The other discomfiting utterance was made by Nell C. McCallum, representing the International Union of Steam Engineers.

"My organization is not a unit on this proposition," he said. "We look on it as a sort of spasm in bodies controlled by political motives. The class I represent has suffered enough in the last ten years from institutions and forms of local government that we would gladly see relegated to the rear. I myself am one of the victims of Harrison and Dunne.

"If the Jefferson club is to follow in the footsteps of such men as Harrison and Dunne the steam engineers will say nay to the invitation to join this movement. We will not go into such a deal. As soon as you make it plain that you have turned about face and have parted company with the men who have disgraced the city, including the school board, then the steam engineers will be with you in your opposition to the charter."

Defer Action for Larger Meeting.

Mr. Post reluctantly stated it as his opinion that in view of the small attendance it would be better to get a larger following before launching a campaign against the charter. Chairman Starr appointed Raymond Robins, Allen T. Burns of the Chicago Commons, and George C. Olcott of the Good Government club to solicit organizations to send delegates to the next meeting, which will be held at the Jefferson club July 28. At that time another attempt will be made to inaugurate the campaign.

G. A. R. Post to Publish a Magazine.

"Old Glory Post," G. A. R., at its meeting yesterday adopted a motion for the publication of a monthly magazine to be called "Old Glory." It will be devoted to the interests of the Grand Army of the Republic and the contributors will be members of the Grand Army and others prominent in army circles.

Not very many moons ago a manufacturer started an advertising campaign on his product by using seventy lines space regularly in THE LADIES' HOME JOURNAL. The advertising paid.

Enter, an advertising agency which believed in splitting up the appropriation, our modest share being something like twenty-eight lines. The advertising no longer paid.

But with experience came wisdom, and the manufacturer switched practically his entire appropriation back to THE LADIES' HOME JOURNAL with larger space than before. There was also a new advertising agent.

The moral of this history is, that a man six feet high is stronger than two boys three feet high.

THE LADIES' HOME JOURNAL has six million readers.

Lingerie Waists: Another Great Offering of Surplus Lines, $2.50, $3.95, $5.00.

Great success is assured this sale—greater than in any previous events because of the superior merit of the several hundred distinct styles. We doubt if such another opportunity will be offered this season. Beautiful motifs and trimmings of laces and embroideries are used in many of the very elaborate models. Great numbers of styles are designed of bands of laces, insertions and fine tuckings. The illustrations show two styles at each of the three prices—$2.50, $3.95 and $5.00. Sixth Floor.

Half Price Sale Women's Hand-Embroidered Hose: Black, White, Colors, 50c.

A great purchase of 600 dozen pairs goes on sale today. At 50c they are quite the best bargains offered this season in Hosiery. All are of this season's manufacture. They are of lisle in fine qualities—each pair beautifully hand-embroidered in effective colors. Many of the lines would be marked at more than twice this price—pair, 50c. Fourth Floor.

Fine Silk Petticoats: Two of the Many Specials at July Prices, $5.00 and $6.50.

We emphasize this as one of the greatest Petticoat Sales this section has ever held. Conditions have made savings possible which hitherto were altogether impossible. And every special price shows the full extent of the savings. The styles are all new—cut full and large and made for service. Black, plain colors and fancy patterns are shown in profusion. Fifth Floor.

Petticoats of rustling taffeta silk in black and colors, deep accordion plaited flounce, sectional ruffle finished with narrow bias bands—$5.

Fine taffeta Silk Petticoats in black and colors, deep full sectional ruffle finished with cluster of tucks, edged with full rose quilling—$6.50.

New Washable Table Covers and Scarfs.

The unique designs and colorings of the new English hand-blocked Challis are bringing them in high favor for wash scarfs, covers for pillows and tables, and mantel drapes. Third Floor.

Hand-Blocked Challis Dresser Scarfs, $1.25 and $2.00; Hand-blocked Challis Table Covers, $1.25, $1.50; Hand-blocked Challis Mantel Drapes, $2.75; Pillows with ruffle, $1.65.

India Print Porch Pillows, 25c.

Japanese Porch Mats, 25c.

Stamped Center Pieces, Table Covers, Scarfs, of ecru crash linen, new designs in Wallachian stitch, worked in colors.

Stamped Center Pieces greatly reduced, 24 inch at 35c; Dresser Scarfs, 65c.

Stamped Shirtwaist Patterns, three yards of material, reduced to 75c, $1.00.

Chic Panama and Felt Hats: The New Shapes for Midsummer Wear at $10 and $12.

The Panamas will prove especially attractive. In price—because of our very fortunate purchase. We had them blocked in shapes of our own selection. Most of them are copies of the jaunty felt hats. Some are turned up directly in front, others with as effective a roll on the side. Many are in the very practical roll brim sailors with telescope crowns. All have been trimmed in our own workroom—with large wings, soft coque pompons, scarfs, etc.

Nothing more practical for outing or traveling wear than the Felt Hats in white, champagne, gray, ecru, light blue, and black, trimmed with wings, pompons, birds, etc. Both lines in a wide range of different styles—$10.00 and $12.00. Fourth Floor.

Infants' Dresses: Four Splendid Values, $2.50

One of the numerous unusual conditions through which our customers profit is accountable for the extraordinary worth in each of four very pretty new models in Lawn Dresses in 2 and 3 year sizes, to be placed on sale today. Fourth Floor.

A very becoming little Dress with round neck, short sleeves, long waisted, with beading and black rib'n velvet at waist, $2.50.

A very dainty model with high neck, short sleeves, yoke of Valenciennes insertion and embroidery, ruffle with Valenciennes edge on skirt, $2.50.

HOLD YOUNG MAN AS FILIBUSTER.

New York Police Stop Alleged Plan to Finance Revolt in Brazil.

CALLS CITY "DEAD EASY."

Man Caught in Many Frauds Declares Crooks Can Win a Good Living.

NEW YORK BUREAU CHICAGO TRIBUNE.
New York, July 14.

An alleged attempt to finance a filibustering expedition, with the ultimate purpose of overthrowing the "superior" government of the Minas Geraes, one of the federal states of Brazil, led tonight to the arrest of a young man who, according to the complaint, has introduced himself to prominent bankers and brokers here as Sebastine E. L. De Magali, a Brazilian. De Magali is charged with violation of the United States postal law. The identity of the complainant is withheld.

Young Man Held as Filibuster's Agent.

The prisoner, who is only 22 years old, came to this city a few weeks ago and put himself in communication with parties who were likely to have money to invest. In a circular which the police claim to have found in his room a plan is set forth for the invasion of the rich Brazilian state by an adventuresome band recruited elsewhere.

Just how much money will be required to carry out this plan is left in doubt, but "it will undoubtedly be less than $500,000," and to those who fund the enterprise a half million dollars' bonus is promised, half in cash and the balance in 4 per cent interest bearing bonds of the new government.

The pressing needs of the outfit, the prospectus says, are for "100 railway fares from Rio to headquarters, 100 passages from South Africa to South America, and 100 horses, to be bought at Buenos Ayres for $50 each."

The Brazilian consul, Señor Antonio F. Xavier, was not accessible tonight, nor was the Consul Dr. F. P. Leao.

Mr. Bimburg of the Astor theater, better known as "Bim, the Button Man," has a brother, who, like Bim, has Titian hair. The younger Bimburg is not so well known in the theatrical world as is "Bim," but he is a double who, because of his likeness to the button man, has become well known in the resorts in the Tenderloin and in big department stores.

Caught at Fraud; Calls Gotham "Dead Easy."

Recently the double arranged for a dinner at a clubhouse as Bim's brother, and on the strength of that borrowed $25 from the manager. He attempted to get $15 more and was arrested after an investigation.

When "Bim" saw the young man at the police station he immediately recognized him as George Ferrian.

"So you are at it again?" said "Bim." "It hasn't been a month since I had you arrested. Why don't you stop?"

Ferrian smiled.

"It is so easy I can't help it," he declared.

His examination was postponed until Tuesday.

Bimburg had other papers to show what the young man had been doing with the name of Bimburg. Among other things he ordered a bill of goods from a Fifth avenue shop which amounted to $350.

Ferrian is quite proud of his work. "New York is dead easy," said he, "and if I wanted to be dishonest I could make at least $1,000 a day representing myself as the brother of 'Bim, the Button Man.'"

The park department observed the Sabbath today for the first time in twelve years and those employés who desired to go to church were allowed to do so. There are about 600 men employed in the department. The Sunday observance was especially noticeable in Central park, when, in parts, the singing of birds was heard instead of the rattling and rumbling of steam rollers. The rollers were silent all day. There were no department carts upon the drives and visitors noted the absence of the usual gang of brown uniformed laborers.

Park Employes Given Sunday Off by Change.

It has been the custom of that department for years for most of the men to work seven days in the week. The change, which went into effect today, is said to have been brought about by Samuel Parsons, a landscape architect, in a talk with Park Commissioner Herrman last week. Parsons comes of a Quaker family and always has been opposed to making or doing any unnecessary work on Sunday.

John L. Brown, a lawyer of Atlanta, Ga., and son of the late Gov. Brown, who was retired on Saturday afternoon of a wallet containing twenty-five stickpins which was valued at $12,000 and $200 in cash, was taken in the Jefferson Market police court today to try the case against the four men the police had arrested. The prisoners gave the name of Frankie Goodwin, Lottie Brown, Rose Edwards, and her husband, John Edwards. All had been arrested in the house at 68 West Thirty-seventh street where the robbery is supposed to have taken place.

Recover Part of $12,180 Taken by Woman.

Rose identified Rose Edwards as the woman who took him to the house. She might pass for a Spaniard. Her husband is said to be. Edwards keeps the restaurant in the basement of a house at 68 West One Hundred and Thirty-fifth street. He owned up to the police that his wife had taken the pins. He took the officers to his restaurant, where the jewel case was found secreted over a rafter. Only twelve of the ninety-four pins were left in the case, but the police say they will get the rest. The pins recovered include the most valued ones in the collection.

Mrs. Margaret McMahon, the biggest woman in New Jersey, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Julia Morehouse, Newark, today. In order that her body may be taken out of the house for interment one of the window frames has been removed, together with sixteen inches of the brick work at the side of it. It will take twelve men to carry the coffin to the street, and, as there is not a hearse large enough to hold it, will have to be conveyed to the cemetery in a wagon.

Must Tear Out Wall to Remove Large Corpse.

Mrs. McMahon weighed nearly 500 pounds. The greater part of her flesh had been taken on in the last three years.

Flo Wood, sister of Laura M. Carter, the woman who was arrested with Chester B. Bennett, the teller of the Windsor Trust company, who took poison, was taken to the hospital this morning and put in the insane ward. She was violent all day. There were no departure cards upon the drives and visitors noted the absence of the usual gang of brown uniformed laborers.

She was brought here from Chicago and was so violent in the Mercer Street police station that it was decided to send her to Bellevue. She is under the formal charge of receiving stolen property that Runyan stole, but there is no evidence against her.

Woman in Runyan Case Taken to Asylum.

PLAN SURPRISE AT THE HAGUE.

Plenary Meeting, Expected to Be Held on Saturday, May Be Marked by a Sensation.

THE HAGUE, July 14.—It is expected that a plenary meeting of the peace conference will be held on Saturday next, and it is asserted that there is a great surprise in store for the delegates. The British delegation, it is understood, is preparing a proposition regarding disarmament to be presented at one of the plenary meetings.

Playing New Game, Le Jeu de Ciseaux, at French Picnic.

With speechmaking, games, and carnival features, the French people of Chicago celebrated the anniversary of the fall of the Bastile yesterday. At Ogden's grove, 415 Clybourn avenue, the festivities began in the afternoon and concluded with a confetti carnival and dancing in the evening. The afternoon was given over to games for the young people, and among those played was the game of "scissors" for the young women. From a rope stretched between two trees small sacks containing prizes dangled just within reach. The young women were blindfolded and armed with scissors. Then each one essayed to cut down one of the sacks and the successful ones awarded the contents.

DENIES JAP SPIES ARE HERE.

Military Attaches Only Officers in Country, Says Terauchi.

NO WATCH UPON U. S. FORTS.

Minister at Tokio Contradicts Report of Informer's Capture.

TOKIO, July 14.—Gen. Terauchi, the minister of war, in an interview today contradicting the reported arrest of a Japanese spy at San Diego, Cal., said:

"There are no Japanese military officers in America except military attaches.

"The war office," he emphatically declared, "has never instructed any officer or amateur spy to examine American forts."

Japs Arrested on Texan Border.

San Antonio, Tex., July 14.—The immigration inspectors at Laredo, on the Mexican border, arrested five more Japanese near Greens Station yesterday, making their way into the state through the brush. This makes fifteen in all that have recently been arrested.

Yamamoto Feted in New York.

New York, July 14.—Admiral D. Aron Yamamoto of Japan and his staff were the guests at luncheon today of Maj. Gen. Frederick D. Grant at Governor's island. Following the luncheon on Governor's island the guests inspected the officers' quarters and other points of interest. Before embarking at the Battery, Admiral Yamamoto spent some time at the Battery newspaper headquarters, evincing much interest in and asking frequent questions concerning the gathering of ship news.

Upon the eve of his departure for Boston Admiral Yamamoto through his aid, Capt. Kato, said:

"My deep sense of appreciation for my welcome again to America forbids my going away without saying to my friends: 'I am proud of your welcome.' Especially has the press been very kind to me.

"I am glad if in any way I was instrumental in eliciting from your great president his statement that the feeling between Japan and the United States is understood by both governments and both people to be very friendly."

Far Eastern Bureau Completed.

Washington, D. C., July 14.—With the view of placing all diplomatic and consular matters relating to Japan and China in the hands of officials familiar with conditions in the orient, the state department has perfected the organization of a "far eastern bureau," which will have charge of all correspondence and preliminary treaty negotiations with the oriental governments. Huntington Wilson, the third assistant secretary of state, who for a number of years served as secretary to the American legation and embassy at Tokio, is chief of the new bureau. His two assistants are Percival Heintzleman of Pennsylvania, formerly student interpreter attached to the American legation at Peking, and later vice and deputy consul general at Canton and Dalny, and William Phillips of Massachusetts, formerly private secretary to Ambassador Choate at London and for the last two years second secretary of the American legation at Peking.

STOESSEL CHARGES ARE MANY

Russian Defender of Port Arthur Disregarded Orders.

NEW VOW AGAINST JEWS.

Arrival of Ikon of Resurrection Marked by Demonstration.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 14.—The indictment issued against Lieut. Gen. Stoessel, the defender of Port Arthur, which has just been made public, charges him, among other things, with disregarding the order of the commander in chief to hand over his command at Port Arthur to Lieut. Gen. Smirnoff and quit the army.

It further charges him with sending in an official report that he led the troops in the action at Kinchow, whereas he remained at Port Arthur and did not participate in the battle; of having decorated Lieut. Gen. Fock for bravery in the battle of Kinchow, which Fock lost, and of offering to abandon Port Arthur and other fortresses when he had ample means of resistance.

The indictment charges Lieut. Gen. Fock with being equally guilty with Stoessel in all counts.

The arrival of the famous ikon of the resurrection, brought from Palestine by the patriarch of Jerusalem for presentation to the emperor, was made the occasion today of a remarkable demonstration.

The ikon was borne along Nevsky Prospect in procession by a dozen bishops. The ikon was guarded by squadrons of Cossacks and was deposited in Kazan cathedral.

Subsequently a great massmeeting was held and was addressed by reactionary leaders, who called upon their hearers to register a vow that not a single Jew be allowed to enter the portals of the third duma. The vow was taken amid great enthusiasm.

SPANS SEAS TO JOIN CHILD.

Deported Syrian Travels 33,666 Miles for Daughter's Sake.

RETURNS TO U. S. BY CANADA.

Small Fortune Spent in Journey to and from Native Land.

North Adams, Mass., July 14.—[Special.]—To outwit the immigration authorities and join his 8 year old daughter here, a Syrian who arrived in this city traveled over 33,666 miles, expended a small fortune in transportation, and consumed six months' time.

The child was brought by her father to the city last winter. The girl found a home, but the father was deported, making the distance traveled when he again arrived at Beirut, Syria, 13,500 miles. He reembarked within a few days for Rio Janeiro, Brazil, 7,425 miles away. His intention was to enter the states at a gulf port, not daring to trust himself again to the immigration officials of the larger eastern cities.

While in Brazil he reached the conclusion that it would be better had he started originally for Canada. At the first opportunity he embarked on a vessel for Colon, whence he crossed the isthmus of Panama. It required several weeks' waiting before he finally embarked on a sailing vessel for Victoria, B. C. He arrived early in May at British Columbia, he had added 8,400 miles to his itinerary.

In June he journeyed from Victoria to Montreal, 3,291 miles. He then determined upon a final cast and headed for the United States. At this point he had no trouble in crossing the line from Canada and made 335 miles from Montreal to Boston. The night he arrived in that city he covered the final 100 odd miles still separating him and his little girl.

NEW FRISCO MAYOR TODAY

Dist. Atty. Langdon Keeps Name of City Ruler Secret.

ALL SUPERVISORS TO QUIT.

All Departments to Be Weeded of Schmitz and Ruef Men.

San Francisco, Cal., July 14.—[Special.]—District Attorney Langdon tomorrow will name the new mayor of San Francisco. He says the new mayor will be given a free hand to name the board of supervisors and to clean out the various municipal commissions, which are now filled by politicians appointed by Schmitz and Ruef. District Attorney Langdon said today:

"The appointment of a mayor by me was the only solution of the municipal problem, since the merchants and the labor leaders refused to select delegates and hold a convention. As soon as the new mayor is in office the connection of the district attorney's office with the municipal government will be at an end. Once in office, the new mayor is to have everything in his own hands, and I, personally, as well as everybody else connected with the prosecution, will be through with the administration end of it once and for all.

"The present supervisors will resign as soon as requested, and it will be up to the new mayor to replace them. I will have nothing whatever to do with the nomination of the men to fill the places nor with the reorganization of the different city departments."

James Phelan is the most prominent man who has been named for mayor, but his antagonism to labor unions is so strong that Langdon may fear to select him at present. Who is to be chosen is a mystery which is perplexing San Francisco.

For All Fine Laundry Work

Next washing day take the daintiest and most delicate shirtwaists of linen or lace-work you have—the ones that you are most particular about—and starch them with

Kingsford's Oswego Silver Gloss Starch

Then compare the result with any starching you ever did with ordinary starch. You will see at once that the fabric starched with Kingsford's is whiter and more pliable, a delight at once to the sight and touch.

Kingsford's Oswego Silver Gloss Starch is unapproached for the lightest or heaviest work. It keeps linens from turning yellow—lacework from breaking. You must try it.

BEST FOR ALL KINDS OF STARCHING

For general use boil as directed. For light starching, unequaled as a cold water starch, requiring no boiling.

Made for over 50 years at Oswego. All grocers, full-weight packages.

NONRESIDENT CITIZENSHIP.

The new law relating to American citizens who live in other countries seems to be attracting considerable attention across the water. Among the thousands of this class are many who are agitated lest they may lose something of value to them. And yet the more the law is studied the more its provisions appeal to the citizen at home.

The familiar quotation, "Once an Englishman always an Englishman," represents one point of view of citizenship. Wherever an Englishman lives he remains an Englishman unless he renounces his allegiance and accepts citizenship in another land. Even this willing surrender of birthright was not recognized by the mother country for many years. In the early days of American national history there were lively international controversies which grew out of the determination of the United States to recognize and maintain the right of expatriation. There were thousands of immigrants from other countries who came to America with the definite intention of spending the remainder of their lives here. Proving themselves worthy of citizenship it was natural that they should desire what the nation was willing to grant them.

The new law presents the subject of expatriation from another standpoint. Just as the declaration of intention to make a permanent home in the United States was deemed a sufficient reason for the extension of the privileges of citizenship to an alien, so now the evident intention to spend the rest of a lifetime in a foreign land is considered a good ground for the withdrawal of those privileges. There are certain obligations which rest upon people who live in a community and enjoy the protection and benefits of its laws. To claim exemption from such obligations on the ground of being a citizen of a foreign country has never appealed strongly to Americans.

The naturalized citizen who makes his home in the United States is protected in every right just the same as the American born. The naturalized citizen who prefers to go back to the place of origin and live there, giving to this country nothing and claiming exemption from responsibility to the community where he makes his home, deserves nothing from the United States government. In many cases such persons are quiet folk who cause no trouble. In many others they have been the source of constant disquietude.

The theory of expatriation is a good one, whether applied to the coming or the going citizen. Those Americans who live abroad temporarily with the definite intention of returning to the country of which they are naturalized citizens are amply protected in their rights. Those who have just as definite intention to live and die in a foreign land, who feel no obligation to the United States, who render it no service, who contribute nothing to its upbuilding, who use its citizenship as a convenient method of escaping obligation to the country in which they live, are utterly valueless to the country. Expatriation is the natural and normal process to be applied to them.

BARRING OUT TRUST GOODS.

The Texas legislature reasoned that the only way in which it could strike at trusts domiciled outside the state was to prohibit the sale of their goods within the state. That would deprive the trusts of a profitable market and make it the exclusive property of independent concerns. They would then have a better opportunity to compete with the trusts.

In order that trust made products may be kept out it has been made a felony for anybody to sell in the state articles made by any trust or combination. If the local dealers in wet, dry, and other kinds of goods are in sympathy with the law and submit cheerfully to any interference with their business that may result from their obedience there will be a notable falling off in the sale of some kinds of trust goods.

If a merchant, objecting to this regulation of his business by the legislature, should pay no attention to the law it does not follow that he would go to the penitentiary. Before he could be convicted for selling sugar made by the American Sugar company, popularly known as the sugar trust, the prosecution would have to prove that it actually was an illegal combination. The popular belief would not be sufficient proof. And if the proof were forthcoming and the merchant were convicted he would not go to the penitentiary until the Supreme court of the United States had said that a state has the right to prohibit the sale by its citizens of articles which are in themselves harmless.

The law is in essence a boycott of what are assumed to be trust made goods. If the people of Texas approve of the law and are ready to do without goods if a trust shall be the sole producer—as with steel rails, for instance—the law will to a considerable extent accomplish the purpose of its makers. If Texas, with its population of three and a half millions, shall use no kerosene except that from independent refineries, though it may cost more, the Standard Oil company will feel the loss of trade.

The people of Texas dislike trusts, and they like cheap goods. If they shall find that the new anti-trust law means dearer goods they may disregard it. It will take some little time to determine the efficacy of what appears to be a fool statute.

BANISH THE STEAM LOCOMOTIVES.

The other day THE TRIBUNE said that the substitution of electric for steam power would rid the summer trips of commuters to and from town of the nuisance of smoke and cinders. The idea appealed to Ald. Fisher, and at the last council meeting he offered a resolution instructing the appropriate committee to draft for submission to the general assembly a bill authorizing the state railroad and warehouse commission to compel railroads to adopt electricity in their suburban service.

This is not an exclusively Cook county measure. It ought to have the support of the representatives from Lake, Du Page, Kane, Will, and other counties which contribute their quotas to the great army of commuters which moves in the direction of Chicago every week day morning and moves out again by nightfall. The legislature, when it reassembles in October, may feel inclined to stay in Springfield until about Christmas time. In that case it will have abundant opportunity to give the railroad and warehouse commission the authority in question. Then the commission will be able to call upon the railroads to do a little electrification by next summer.

There ought to be no need of action by state officials as far as some of the railroads are concerned. Take the Illinois Central, for instance, a road which does an enormous suburban business. It ought to abandon the use of steam on all its freight and passenger trains, at least within the city. Really, it ought to do so within the county, and set an example which other roads would have to follow sooner or later.

Grant park has risen from the waters of the outer harbor. It is nearly ready for the top dressing of loam and for the planting of trees and shrubs. The officers of the Illinois Central cannot believe that after the park shall have been made an attractive spot the engines of that road will be permitted to deluge it with smoke and cinders and kill the grass and the shrubbery. They had better begin preparing for the inevitable. It is said that they have been studying the subject of electrical power for some time and have collected much valuable information. Then proceed to make use of it.

ART IN THE GHETTO.

The distinguished alderman from the Ninth ward is partly right, partly wrong, when, in speaking of the objections of the Municipal Art league to the proposed fountain in the Ghetto, he says: "We don't care whether the blessed fountain is artistic or not." Undoubtedly this was spoken in the heat of vexation over annoying delay, for the days are warm, the district is crowded, and the demands of the thirsting are pronounced and numerous.

It must be admitted at once that when the Municipal Art league declares a fountain impossible, objecting not to the working of the fountain but to the swans and the spouting fish which decorate it, the opinion necessarily carries great weight. And it must be conceded, also, that the protesting alderman is hasty in his assertion that the artistic question is one about which nobody in the Ghetto is concerned. The Jews are an artistic people. The history of civilization contains many illustrious names of Jews who have contributed directly to the cause of art, and more names of those who are in complete sympathy with the beautiful in art. Therefore, to say that nobody in the Ghetto would find fault or be artistically vexed with an impossible swan or a miserable spouting fish is a reflection that will properly excite an expression of indignant dissent.

At the same time it is possible to make a serious handicap of artistic criticism. Circumstances must govern cases. It is recalled that when the children of Israel came into the desert of Zin they were famished for water. Thereupon Moses, recognizing the emergency, promptly smote twice with his rod upon the rock "and the water came out abundantly." We do not read that at this crisis the Municipal Art league of Kadesh presented itself and condemned the impromptu fountain on the ground that it was inartistic and not up to the specifications. Probably neither Moses nor the children of Israel would have tolerated any interference at this stage. What they were after was water, so Moses gave them water as expeditiously as possible, without even pausing to reflect that he might be destroying their artistic instincts.

Therefore, it seems right and fair that if the good citizens of the Ghetto are suffering from thirst they should receive attention even if the attention violates some of the canons of art. An arrangement might be made by which the impossible swan and the distressing spouting fish could do temporary duty until their places could be filled by worthier products of art. Because the art league is virtuous in its artistic protestations it does not follow that there shall be no more water in the Ghetto. Art is long and time is fleeting, and by the time artistic sensibilities are satisfied the summer will have slipped away and much privation will have resulted. This is a trifle that appears to have been overlooked down in the Fine Arts building.

THE RHODES SCHOLARS.

The first set of American students admitted to the colleges in Oxford under the provisions of the will of Cecil Rhodes has completed the allotted period of residence in the famous English university town. The appointments made in 1904 were for three years, selection being made after examination under rather unfamiliar methods from the American point of view, personal character and athletic ability being considered in the judgment.

There was much uncertainty at the time about the attitude of conservative Oxford toward the infusion of fresh blood from America. There was much doubt about the ability of the American boys to adapt themselves to the English system of education in such a way as to prove the value of the idea of the founder of the scholarships. The ignorance respecting the inside workings of the small colleges of Oxford was marked, the superficial observations of the traveler affording about all the available information for the benefit of the prospective students.

These conditions no doubt proved serious handicaps to the first company of scholars on the Rhodes foundation. If they had succeeded in making a fair showing as pioneers it would have been greatly to their credit and would have been satisfactory from the point of view of their friends and well wishers at home. The future scholars will have an easier time. Those who have been in the university since 1904 have written many letters home. They have contributed articles for their college papers. They have given their impressions in more widely circulated periodicals. The knowledge of the conditions to be met is far better now than it was for the first group.

The American boys have done much more than simply to make a respectable showing. Reports are coming of the winning of honors in various fields, the first Rhodes scholar from Illinois being among those to win distinction. One of the company gives in a recent issue of the Independent a review of the achievements of the first group, which indicates that America has just reason for pride in its representatives.

Three-fourths of the Oxford undergraduates are "passmen," receiving on completion of the course the degree of Bachelor of Arts, representing "a smaller degree of proficiency than the corresponding degree from any reputable American college." The minority are "honor" men, the successful among whom are divided into four classes, according to rank. A position in the first or second class indicates a higher degree and kind of scholarship than that of any American Bachelor of Arts. The success of the American boys in the honor ranks is distinctly creditable.

The Independent's contributor believes that the results of the first three years have exceeded rather than disappointed expectations, that the American students have been favorably impressed with Oxford as their acquaintance with it has improved, and that Oxford sentiment, tutorial and undergraduate alike, has regarded the infusion of Americans with a kindliness hardly to have been expected from such a conservative community.

THE RIVER NUISANCE.

Chicago, July 13.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I want to express my appreciation of your editorial on the "River Nuisance."

Every morning of this week but one I have been delayed from five to nine minutes at about 8:30 a. m. in crossing the north branch of the river, owing to bridges being open for passing boats. The fact that the waiting was done while standing up in a crowded street car didn't help matters any. One evening this week I was delayed fully a quarter of an hour by the State street bridge, which did not fully close after allowing some vessels to pass, and the teams, automobiles, and foot passengers, after their long wait, were obliged to seek another bridge. As the Dearborn street bridge has been up in the air for months—and doubtless will be for months to come—and inasmuch as only one-half of the Rush street bridge could be used, the other half being under repair, you can readily imagine the jam and delay that ensued.

If this river nuisance is already as bad as it is, what will it be when we have our deep waterway, when it is to be presumed that there will be more ships passing the bridges than pass there now? If we are going to have an increased river nuisance and increased taxes by reason of our deep waterway we ought at least to be sure that we are going to receive all the promised advantages.

MARQUISE DE FONTENOY.

Copyright: 1907: By the Marquise de Fontenoy.

AMERICAN interests are involved in the conflict which has been raging for some time past between Emperor Francis Joseph and the nationalist administration of Hungary, a conflict in which the latter stands for tyranny and reaction, while the aged monarch, who has already introduced universal suffrage in the Austrian moiety of his empire, champions the cause of democracy and the rights of the people.

Just at present the Hungarian government and parliament are endeavoring, in the face of the opposition of the emperor, to place on the Magyar statute book a law which virtually reëstablishes serfdom and which has for its avowed object "to check the flow of Hungarian emigrants to the United States by binding laborers to the land."

The provisions of the law are almost incredible in a civilized country in the twentieth century. It makes it a penal offense for a laborer or for any member of his family to leave a farm without permission, or for a peasant tenant or any member of his family to quit the estate without the authorization of the landowner.

It is an offense to fail to perform on Sunday work considered urgent by the employer, and the law, moreover, confers upon agricultural employers the right to inflict corporal chastisement upon laborers, both male and female, who are still minors, that is to say, under 21 years of age. This flogging already exists. Girls of 18 may be publicly flogged for trivial offenses, even for offenses of which they themselves are innocent but which have been committed by their parents or relatives.

The law in question now gives legal sanction to the flogging, and thus it may be seen that the employers of agricultural labor in Hungary, that is to say, more especially the landowning classes, are endeavoring to arrest the exodus of the peasantry of Hungary and of Croatia to the United States by not merely fines and imprisonment but also by the public flogging of the grown up sons and daughters of the peasantry, providing they are under 21 years of age.

This extraordinary law, which has passed both houses of the national legislature at Budapest, without serious opposition, and which the London Times and other organs of the foreign press describe as "infamous" and as "the most reactionary piece of legislation conceived for decades in Europe," is being held up by the emperor, who declines to give that royal sanction which alone can convert it into a law of the land.

True, from a strictly constitutional point of view, it would be his duty to sign it. But here is where despotism finds itself on the side of the rights of the people. He declines to reduce to absolute slavery not only the Magyar peasantry, which constitute the bulk of the Magyar population, but also all the great agricultural population of Croatia, which has always been denied any representation to speak of in the parliament of Hungary, to which it is subject, although its population is numerically far superior to that of Hungary.

Emperor Francis Joseph is insisting upon the inauguration of universal suffrage in Hungary and Croatia, which would give Croatian and also the downtrodden Hungarian peasantry, for the first time, political rights and a voice in the administration of their destinies that has hitherto been denied to them.

Francis Joseph rightly argues that the legislature as now constituted at Budapest does not represent the views and the wishes of the Hungarian kingdom as a whole. That is one of the chief sources of bitterness between the old emperor and the Hungarian government just at present. The nationalist leaders, who compose the administration, realize that their oligarchy will be at an end as soon as ever Francis Joseph gets his way and introduces universal suffrage in Hungary, as he has already done in Austria, and it cannot be sufficiently made known here in America that in his fight with the Hungarian government he is championing the cause of the people, while the nationalist Hungarian government stands for medieval tyranny, serfdom, and reaction.

Lord Arundell of Wardour, having been a priest of the Roman Catholic church, has left no issue to inherit the honors and estates which came to him on the death of his brother last year, and it is, therefore, a distant cousin, Edgar Clifford Arundell, descended from the sixth baron, who now becomes the fourteenth Lord Arundell of Wardour, and owner, or rather life tenant, of Wardour castle.

He is a man of about 50, has been married for about ten years, and has no children. His heir is therefore his only brother, Gerald, a bachelor of 47. Should the latter fail to wed and to leave issue, the barony of Arundell of Wardour, created by King James I., will become extinct. It is a peerage which was conferred upon Sir Thomas Arundell, who, in the reign of Queen Elizabeth, entered the service of the emperor of Germany, and so geratly distinguished himself at the battle of Gran, against the Turks, capturing their standard with his own hands, that he was then and there created a count of the holy Roman empire by Emperor Rudolph II., being raised to the English peerage as Lord Arundell of Wardour on his return to England.

The second Lord Arundell blew the greater portion of Wardour castle into the air rather than leave it in the hands of Oliver Cromwell and of his troops, who had successfully besieged it, while the third lord was imprisoned for five years in the Tower of London upon the perjured testimony of the infamous informer Titus Oates.

Wardour castle in Wiltshire has been in the possession of the Arundells since its purchase from the Grevilles in 1547 by Sir Thomas Arundell, who lost his head on the scaffold during the reign of Edward VI., in spite of the fact that he had been a brother-in-law of Henry VIII., his wife having been a sister of Queen Catherine Howard, the fifth of the many wives of the Bluebeard monarch.

All the Arundells, since the first Lord Arundell, possess the title of count and countess of the holy Roman empire, and they have included the late Lady Burton, wife of the celebrated oriental explorer, Sir Richard Burton, and an aunt of the new Lord Arundell.

With the death of Baron Edward Robert von Swinburne, at the age of 83, the Austrian branch of the Swinburne family becomes extinct. For the baron, who was a veteran colonel of the army and a chamberlain of the emperor, never married and was the only son of that Austrian field marshal, Baron Robert Swinburne, who was for so many years Austrian governor of Milan and viceroy of Lombardy. The Swinburnes always have been held in high honor in Austria, and Henry Swinburne, the traveler whose books on Spain and Italy, printed in the middle of the eighteenth century, are standard works today, was a particular favorite of Empress Maria Theresa, whose son, Emperor Joseph, became godfather to Henry Swinburne's son.

The Swinburnes are one of the oldest families in England and were settled at Swinburne castle in Northumberland at the time of the Norman conquest. The castle passed through marriage in the reign of Queen Elizabeth, first to the Witheringtons, and then to the Riddels, in whose possession it is now, the country seat of the head of the house of Swinburne since 1572 having been Capheaton hall, near Newcastle-on-the Tyne.

The most famous member of the family today undoubtedly is England's foremost poet, Algernon Swinburne, son of the late Admiral Charles and Lady Jane Swinburne, and who undoubtedly would have been appointed to succeed Lord Tennyson as poet laureate had it not been for the radical and even downright revolutionary opinions which he professes in all political matters, especially with regard to Russian affairs.

The chief of the family is Sir John Swinburne, the second of whose three wives was an American woman, whose acquaintance he made during one of his stays in the United States as the representative of the English holders of the Virginia state bonds.

The baronetcy was one of the first created by King James I., dating from 1660, and was conferred upon John Swinburne, who had previously been the subject of a romantic and sensational lawsuit. As a child he had been kidnaped, carried off to the continent, brought up in a monastery there under a different name, was believed to have perished, and when, after reaching manhood, refusing to become a monk, and escaping from the monastery, he returned to England to claim his extensive estates, he had the utmost difficulty in establishing his identity.

CALL M. O. SIGNAL FAILURE.

Civic Federation Experts Point Out Defects in System.

RIGHT TO VOTE IN PERIL.

Organization of Municipal Workmen in England Leads to Crisis.

New York, July 14.—[Special.]—Municipal ownership of gas, water, and light and power plant is declared an "inglorious failure" by two of the experts acting for the National Civic federation in an exhaustive examination of utility plants in America and England. Two other investigators take a hopeful view of municipalization.

The experts are Walton Clark, vice president of the United Gas Improvement company of Philadelphia, and Charles L. Edgar, president of the Edison Electric and Illuminating company of Boston, who criticise severely the municipal plants examined. The other two are Prof. Frank Parsons of Boston, president of the National Public Ownership league, and Edward W. Bemis, superintendent of the Cleveland (O.) water works, find much to favor in municipal plants which were investigated.

Experience Proves Fallacy.

Messrs. Clark and Edgar concur in the statement that the inquiry of the committee, both from the standpoint of British and American experience, more especially the latter, has shown that "where municipal ownership has been removed from the realm of philosophic discussion and put to the test of actual experience it has failed ingloriously." The belief is expressed by these gentlemen that the "few enthusiasts who still advocate municipal ownership will soon be convinced by the logic of events, and turning their energies to other things will through them realize their ambitions of usefulness to their fellows."

Prof. Parsons and Mr. Bemis, on the other hand, declare that the failures of municipal ownership are insignificant compared to the failures of private ownership, either in number or importance.

Menace Seen in England.

Mr. Edgar and Mr. Clark agree in setting forth numerous objections to municipalization, an important one being that in several British cities which have tried public ownership it has been found that the organization of municipal workmen constitutes a serious threat against the municipality itself and as a result the disfranchisement of city employés is being seriously considered in England.

Were municipal employés in this country to organize, under extended city control of public utilities, the writers declare the remaining voters would find themselves beneath "a tyranny of democracy which is no less galling to the individual oppressed and no less detrimental to the welfare of the state than is the tyranny of a despot."

After reviewing the conditions found in municipal gas plants, the service of which was declared to be inefficient, Messrs. Edgar and Clark, in their report, discuss the situation with respect to electric light plants. In all cases the municipal enterprises are said to be below the standard of private companies.

Chicago Light Plants Obsolete.

Of Chicago's four municipal electric plants, three are declared to be of obsolete type, while the fourth is not properly constructed for economical operation. The stations are scattered through the city without system and are poorly located. The plants use 1,400,000,000 gallons of city water (minimum), for which no charge is made. Of the 6,700 lamps in use, 4,180 are of a type which has been generally discarded throughout the country.

In Chicago, the civil service rules are declared to be a source of inefficiency. Men who have become inefficient are held in responsible positions longer than they should be and the best men are often prevented from being advanced in rank or chosen from the outside because of lack of the special knowledge required by the civil service examiners.

Chicago Water System Weak.

Water systems operated by the municipalities in Chicago, Cleveland, and Syracuse and by private companies in Indianapolis and New Haven, were investigated. The engineer quoted by Messrs. Edgar and Clark found that at Chicago the facilities for developing water from the present sources of supply are insufficient.

In Chicago complaints of lack of pressure were numerous, houses in certain districts being able to get water in their upper stories only at night. In Cleveland and Syracuse the pressure was, on the whole, satisfactory.

Syracuse is found to have the greatest mileage of water mains per 100 miles of streets and Indianapolis and Chicago the smallest.

In summarizing the result of their inquiry Messrs. Clark and Edgar say, in part:

"It seems that the citizen obtains the cheapest water in Cleveland, while New Haven is the second cheapest. At Indianapolis the poor man gets water fairly cheap, but the cost increases rapidly as the class of dwelling improves. At both Chicago and Syracuse the poor man pays a high price for water."

"Reformers" Lose Way.

Mr. Edgar and Mr. Clark conclude their review as follows:

"Whatever the subjective relation of municipalizers to their reform, their objective relation, as we have seen, is far from what it once was regarding the commodities and services to be municipalized. They have been obliged by the logic of events to cut away from much that seemed precious to themselves and to many who trained with them.

"Their opponents, taking cognizance of the projects abandoned, hoped that now municipalizers might be pinned down to the consideration of ascertained facts relating to undertakings which their representatives have had an opportunity to visit and to developments obvious to all who are interested in the progress of the debate on the question. The voluntary movement of the municipalizers to this not easily shiftable point would, we submit, in itself have been a contribution to the cause of truth and a source of gratification to their adversaries.

Socialism Is Unmasked.

"But the radical British municipalizer has exhibited the resources of hope and fancy, if not of logic and consistency. While his American comrade is still shouting for municipal ownership, he is today, in his latest frame of mind, looking expectantly to 'municipalization by provinces'—that is, for gas, water, tramways, and electricity he now wants national government, appropriation, ownership, and operation. He has dropped municipalism and comes out for what he all the time had in the background of his thought—socialism.

"When ex-Mayor Dunne of Chicago came out last summer for twenty year franchises for the street car corporations of his city he demolished his platform, ignored his campaign principles, and returned to the system of private ownership in the one industry whose reform through municipalization was the loudest cry that gave him his office."

Takes the Higher View.

In favoring municipal ownership Prof. Parsons declares that in most discussions of the subject too much attention is given to the purely financial side of the question.

"Dollars and cents are not to be neglected," he says, "but life, liberty, justice, virtue, and intelligence—the whole character product and social product of our institutions—are of greater moment than their money product."

Mr. Bemis declares that the overcapitalization and high earnings thereon of private companies and the demoralizing relations often existing between private companies and city governments are the two great reasons for the municipal movement.

Examinations.

No one with any practical knowledge of affairs will argue that the mere passing of an examination is a proof of intellectual superiority, and still less that it is a guarantee of good judgment and common sense.—London Hospital.

NEWS OF THE THEATERS

THE BOYS OF COMPANY B.

A Comedy in Three Acts.
BY RIDA JOHNSON YOUNG.

Presented at the Garrick Theater, Chicago, by John Barrymore and His Company, July 14, 1907. The Cast:

Maj. MacLane	Joseph E. Whiting
Jim MacLane	Alfred Kappeler
C. Holbrook Allen	Verner Clarges
Tony Allen	John Barrymore
Sigsby Sissen Sewell	Morgan Coman
"Babe" Carruthers	William L. Gibson
George Bright	Hugh Gillman
Henry Stabler	Robert McWade
Arthur Stabler	Roy Fairchild
Mrs. MacLane	Jennie Eustace
Eileen MacLane	Josephine Drake
Madge Blake	Florence Nash
Florence Henderson	Marie Mallon

Brimful of the joy of life and pulsating with the gladsome enthusiasm of youth is "The Boys of Company B," which had a most auspicious première at the Garrick last evening. Once again Mrs. Young has demonstrated herself to be a dramatist of uncommon ability along certain lines, and in her latest effort she has given us a comedy which has all the charm and gayety possessed by "Brown of Harvard," and is agreeably free from the somber tone cast by the triteness of the plot in the earlier play.

The first act ranks among the best in recent comedies, and even before the curtain rises there is a shout and a hurrah, which starts the pace which never is abandoned till the curtain falls again. So much to the liking of the large audience was this first act that demands were made on Mr. Barrymore for a speech after he had responded to half a dozen curtain calls. The succeeding acts do not quite maintain the high standard of the first, but there is not a dull or tiresome moment in either of them, and, as played by an admirably selected company, "The Boys of Company B" furnishes ideal entertainment for the warm evenings, and it should spell success at the Garrick until September at least.

In her quest for a new field, Mrs. Young has taken up a certain phase of military life, combined with scenes in the lives of people moving in smart society. The curtain rises on the sun parlor and gymnasium, situated on the top floor of the MacLane residence in New York. Jim MacLane and a number of his pals, who were former college chums and now are fellow comrades in company B of a crack regiment, are indulging in boxing, fencing, and general hilarity. The time has come for the annual spring encampment of the regiment and plans are being formulated for the good time in prospect. It develops that Tony Allen, a young and impecunious attorney, with a rich old uncle, has been in love for several years with Eileen MacLane, the daughter of the major. In a compact made with Mrs. MacLane he had promised to speak no word of love to the girl until she had reached her twentieth birthday and consequently for two years has been silent.

Mrs. MacLane has been extravagant and has lived beyond her husband's income and they have become involved to Henry Stabler, a self-made millionaire. Stabler is socially ambitious for his only son Arthur and it was on the understanding that she should do her utmost to further a marriage between Eileen and Arthur Stabler that the loans were made to Mrs. MacLane.

It is on Eileen's twentieth birthday that the play opens, and Tony tells Mrs. MacLane that the time has come for him to speak, and that he is determined to do so. She tells him that his poverty is an insurmountable barrier, and that his only hope of winning the girl lies in his ability to persuade his parsimonious old uncle to make a substantial settlement on him.

Playfully Tony defies the watchful mother and tells her he will succeed in proposing to Eileen before the evening is over. However, Mrs. MacLane is ever watchful, and sees that every opportunity is balked. By an exceedingly ingenious turn, Tony calls a proposal to Eileen through the speaking tube, as he is supposed to be leaving from the downstairs door, and thus wins his wager.

The second act is placed at Meadows-on-the-Hudson, where the soldiers are in camp. The MacLanes have a country place a short distance off, and a day before they are expected to arrive on the scene Tony is having a harmless little flirtation with Madge Blake, a cousin of Eileen's, and they are caught in the act of kissing. He succeeds in having himself excused and forgiven, but a little later becomes hopelessly involved when he undertakes to write a letter to Madge for one of the other boys who has sprained his wrist in a blanket tossing. The missive reaches Eileen, and as she recognizes the writing, she at once accepts Arthur Stabler's proposal, and arrangements are made for a hasty wedding and a trip abroad.

Before going to camp Tony had urged his miserly old uncle to join the regiment. The outing at the expense of his country appeals to the old man, but the indignities he suffers in camp become insufferable and he finally becomes insubordinate and defies his superior officers, including among them his nephew, and is sent to the guardhouse. Tony sees his chance of wringing a settlement out of the old man and he promises to secure the latter's dismissal in return for $50,000, to be paid when Tony marries Eileen.

A week later, the day before that set for the marriage of Eileen and Stabler, Tony succeeds in getting all the tangles straightened out, and the final curtain falls on a happy and lingering embrace.

John Barrymore was an irrepressible and wholly likable Tony. He gave all those needed qualities of youth, enthusiasm, irresponsibility, and jollity. He had just the right sense of comedy for every scene at hand, and in the moments where sincerity was required his speeches rang honestly true. He bears a remarkable resemblance to the earlier representatives of the house of Drew, and his reception was cordial and hearty.

The supporting company is flawless in its ensemble and in its individual achievements. Miss Eustace was suave, gracious, and diplomatic as Mrs. MacLane, and Miss Drake was an Eileen well worth fighting for. Verner Clarges succeeded admirably as the choleric uncle. Roy Fairchild gave a faithful delineation of the part of Arthur Stabler, who was an insufferable prig, loud voiced, aggressive, conceited, and lacking in gray matter. Miss Nash was a charming little ingénue who could not say "eth to thave her thoul," and in her lisping scenes with Chick, capitally played by Morgan Coman, the house fairly rocked with laughter. Miss Mallon, as a romantic young person; that veteran Robert McWade, as the elder Stabler; Joseph Whiting as Maj. MacLane, who could order a company of soldiers, but was afraid to raise his voice in his own house; Alfred Kappeler, William Gibson, and Hugh Gilman as Jim, "Babe" and "Beauty," the leaders among the boys, were all excellent.

The staging is carefully and satisfactorily attended to and many novelties are introduced. Two songs sung in the opening acts were encored and added no small part to the general enjoyment.

Modern Adam's Ideal Eve.

Not one man in five hundred pictures his future wife in the surroundings of the ordinary girl. Where is the Adam who dreams of meeting his Eve, short of skirt and strong of arm, in the hockey field; or striding over the turf with a golf club; or plunging madly after a tennis ball? Au contraire, he pictures her clad in "something soft and clinging," a being more angel than woman, who, as a daily companion, would undoubtedly prove the most withering bore a man could be cursed with.—London Throne.

Gustatorial.

A summer tourist was passing through a German village in the west recently, when a stout German girl came to the front door and called to a small girl playing in front.

"Gusty! Gusty!" she said. "Come in and eat yourself. Ma's on the table and pa's half et!"—Lippincott's Magazine.

Medicinal Tobacco.

Tobacco may be a luxury, but it is also a splendid disinfectant, and rarely, in my experience, does a smoker take an infectious disease. This being so, I cannot look upon the moderate use of tobacco entirely in the light of a luxury—it is a preventive medicine.—London Argus.

MAKE MERRY TO AID CHARITY

Special Benefit for Poor Babies at Riverview Park Tomorrow.

OFFERS MANY ATTRACTIONS.

Generous Contributions Promised to Summer Hospital and Ice Fund.

Everybody in Riverview park tomorrow will lend a hand in the work of saving the lives of the babies of the tenements. The management of the big amusement park, the concessionnaires, the 5,000 inhabitants of the cosmopolitan city of mirth, and the thousands of amusement seekers and friends of charity who throng through the gates will be contributors to THE TRIBUNE summer hospital and free ice fund.

New attractions will be offered everywhere along the Pike, the Bowery, and the Marine causeway—the three thoroughfares of the park—attractions which will not again be offered this year. Every show has promised to present a bill of hits. In the afternoon and evening Duss and his famous band will give special TRIBUNE babies' day concerts in the big band shell in the grove. Nothing will be left undone by the management of the park to make TRIBUNE babies' day the biggest day of the year in the number of attractions offered, and the public is expected to do the rest—to help make the day the biggest on record at the park in point of attendance.

Help to Swell Charity Fund.

Every dime paid for an admission ticket to Riverview tomorrow will be turned into the coffers of THE TRIBUNE summer hospital and free ice fund—the charity that supplies ice to keep the tenement babies' milk sweet and cool and sends poor sick babies and their mothers into the country to regain their health at a finely appointed hospital camp at Algonquin, on the banks of the Fox river. A dime spent for one ticket will buy 100 pounds of ice, and the purchaser of fifty tickets will know that he has been the cause of taking some poor baby and its mother out of the squalor of its tenement home, where recovery from illness is almost hopeless, to THE TRIBUNE'S summer hospital, where clean air, wholesome food, trained nursing, and competent medical care give back to the worthy poor their health and happiness.

Realistic Spectacle Presented.

Half of the receipts from the sale of tickets to the Great Train robbery—the feature attraction of Riverview park—will also be turned into the coffers of THE TRIBUNE free ice and hospital fund. This realistic spectacle was conceived and constructed by Arthur Voegtlin, and was presented 965 times at Coney Island before it was brought to Riverview park, where it is being produced on the largest scale ever attempted in the production of such a show. In picture and pantomime the story of the great train robbery is told so vividly and with such bold realism that the auditor gets a thrill every minute while it lasts.

Each moment of this sensational and realistic picture of frontier life, portrayed with amazing accuracy, is filled with dramatic interest. The first picture represents a typical mining camp, with the towering heights of a great mountain range in the background. It is the main street of the bustling camp, with its dance hall, saloon, faro bank—each in full blast—which is disclosed.

Typical Frontier Holdup.

There is a plot running through the spectacle—an interesting plot which slowly is unraveled as the show moves along. In the second picture the bandits, headed by Jim Dalton, are seen winding down the trail to the lonely gulch where the train is to be flagged. Next Jane Rogers, sweetheart of Dalton, flags the train. Then come the stirring scenes of the typical frontier train holdup of the days gone by, followed by the division of the spoils. The spectacle is thrilling from beginning to end. It is purely and simply a wild west show, and it is worth seeing. The production is staged on a huge scale, the stage itself being 740 by 250 feet, permitting of action which is impossible on a theater stage.

Those who intend to see the show before it leaves Riverview may go tomorrow and not only see a performance worth while but at the same time become contributors to a worthy cause. Tickets to Riverview park for tomorrow may be purchased at THE TRIBUNE office today or at the gates of Riverview tomorrow.

WIZARD OF FRUITS AND FLOWERS.

[From the Technical World Magazine.]

Luther Burbank has attracted a vast amount of attention because he has attempted and to a considerable extent succeeded in doing something quite novel, at least in this country.

He is breeding up plant, fruit, and vegetable life. He is the godfather of the sugar prune, a giant in comparison to its ancestors, the French prune, of which California produced 150,000,000 pounds of the dried product in a year. The sugar prune ripens earlier and is of immense commercial value. Burbank is also the maker of the seedless plum which he accomplished by crossing two varieties of the Pruns triflora. The white blackberry is another of the wizard of horticulture's triumphs. Sixty-five thousand bushes were used in tests before he developed this phenomenon.

He has given to the arid deserts a new species of grass which will grow on the plains without water. He converted the cactus into an edible plant. The wild potato of South America also received his attention. From a single eye of this potato he developed 120 hybridizations and grew a large tuber of good quality.

Mr. Burbank has made endless experiments with the potato. He keeps, in his farm at Santa Rosa, no less than 10,000 varieties for experimental purposes. He has grown potatoes of every shape and color, round, long, short, square, pure white, pink, crimson, purple, and yellow. Burbank potato seedlings have been shipped all over the world. The late Cecil Rhodes planted 10,000 of his seedless plum trees in South Africa, until now they have multiplied into the millions.

MELBA ON BREATHING.

[From the Century Magazine.]

I cannot too forcibly insist that the mere possession of a lovely voice is only the basis of vocal art. Nature occasionally startles one by the prodigality of her gifts, but no student has any right to expect to sing by inspiration any more than an athlete may expect to win a race because he is naturally fleet of foot.

Methods of breathing, "attack," and the use of the registers must all be perfectly understood by the successful singer, who should likewise be complete master of all details relating to the structure and use of those parts above the voice box and be convinced of the necessity of a perfectly controlled chest expansion in the production of tone.

For perfect singing correct breathing, strange as it may sound, is even more essential than a beautiful voice. No matter how exquisite the vocal organ may be, its beauty cannot be adequately demonstrated without proper breath control. Here is one of the old Italian secrets which many singers of today wholly lack because they are unwilling to give the necessary time for the full development of breathing power and control. Phrasing, tone, resonance, expression, all depend upon respiration, and in my opinion musical students, even when too young to be allowed the free use of the voice, should be thoroughly taught the principles of breathing.

Doctor and Dentist.

The care of the teeth is a matter which is too often left entirely in the hands of the dentist, whereas the family practitioner, by judiciously pointing out the proper means of safeguarding the patient from infection through the mouth, is often in a position to forestall the necessity of a visit to the dentist.—London Hospital.

Fond Hopes Crushed.

"Did father kick you out?" she asked shyly, looking up into his eyes with the appealing look of a little child, the day after he had tried his fortune.

"No," he replied despondently, "but my mission in other ways was also bootless."—Somerville Journal.

ELKS AT QUAKER CITY.

Plans Made for Huge Parade and Important Grand Lodge Meet.

FIGHT NAME OF NEGRO ORDER

Tooth Emblem May Be Discarded; Convention Opens Tonight.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 14.—Members of the benevolent and Protective Order of Elks arrived this city tonight and the streets are filled with visitors. Upwards of 20,000 Elks have enrolled their names at the official registration bureau since Saturday. The convention will formally open tomorrow night.

Wednesday morning there will be a parade of massed bands. The parade of lodges will take place on Thursday.

May Discard Tooth Emblem.

The new constitution of the organization, which was adopted at the last annual session of the grand lodge, will go into effect Tuesday. By the discarding of the elk's tooth as an emblem of the order will be taken up. The decoration of elk to secure the teeth and the making of cheap imitations upon members at excessive prices are among the causes that led to the agitation.

To Fight Negro Order.

Another matter that will be brought up for discussion is that relating to the colored Elks. The Elks object to the colored organizations styling themselves "Elks," and will take steps to protect the name in court if necessary.

Full Attire of Pittsburg Lodge.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 14.—[Special.]—Members of the Beau Brummel and Berry Wall will take into discards beside the delegation of Pittsburg Elks in the Quaker City during the parade and drill. Members of the local lodge to the number of 300, including over a score of millionaires, are prepared to wake up Philadelphia with stunning attires. The "Pittsburg lodge" will wear tuxedo suits and silk hats. Topping this will be a black derby seat lined with purple silk. The delegation will also wear white silk gloves and white spats.

ELKS ON WAY TO GRAND LODGE.

Nearly 900 on Special Train Leaving Chicago, Though Not All Are from Local Lodge.

Nearly 200 passengers were on board the Elks' special, which left the Wabash station yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock under the "chaperonage" of Assistant General Passenger Agent Fred H. Tristram, for the grand lodge meeting in Philadelphia, which opens on Tuesday. Of the passengers 85 were from Chicago lodge No. 4, 55 from Nebraska No. 6 of Omaha, and the balance scattering. A few hours earlier there passed through the city a special with 192 members of the El Paso lodge, accompanied by a Mexican band of sixty pieces. Gov. Ahunda of Jilisca, Mex., was among the tourists.

IN THE SOCIETY WORLD.

Preparations are progressing rapidly for Buffalo's Hill encampment benefit to be given at Riverview park July 25, 26, and 27. In addition to the concerts a number of other attractions are being arranged, among them being a gypsy camp, Russian bazaar, Japanese tea garden, a vaudeville "Americana," and a French patisserie booth. The general committee for the entire entertainment is Mrs. Frank R. McMullin, chairman; Mrs. Chatfield-Taylor, vice chairman; Mrs. August Magnus, treasurer; Miss Mabel Dick, recording secretary. The chairmen from the different north shore towns are: Mrs. H. A. Easton, Kenilworth; Mrs. Allen McIlvaine, Winnetka; Mrs. Andrew McLeish, Glencoe; Mrs. H. J. Patten, Evanston; Mrs. W. A. Alexander, Highland Park; and Mrs. James Thorne, Lake Forest.

Rev. Walter Keith has joined Mr. Keith at the Onwentsia club, where they will remain all summer.

Mrs. William C. Moulton, 64 Bellevue place, is at the Harbor Point club, Harbor Point, Mich., for the summer.

Miss Harriet Greeley of Winnetka has as her guest Miss Croker of Fitchburg, Mass.

Mrs. Paul Hamill of Montreal, Canada, is visiting Mrs. Charles D. Hamill, 2227 Prairie avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Eben Lane, 5213 Madison avenue, have gone to Colorado for a brief visit.

Miss Dorothy Wrigley has returned from Europe and has joined her mother, Mrs. William Wrigley, at Harbor Point, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pope, 18 Lake Shore drive, have returned from Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Gates of the Hotel Woldemere, sail tomorrow on the Carmania for a three months' trip abroad.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Winchester Holman of 500 Oakdale avenue, have returned from a month's trip to California.

Dr. George W. Hall and family of 641 East Forty-sixth place, have arrived home after seven months' absence in Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rothchild of 2923 Prairie avenue, left Sunday for St. Paul, Minn.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Sellers have returned from California and are staying at the Metropole. They have recently purchased a residence in Pasadena and will make it their future home.

Mr. T. B. Cosford of New York, who has been visiting Mrs. Frank Stephen Wakeman at 606 Drexel boulevard for the last two weeks, has returned home. Mrs. Wakeman is entertaining Mrs. Ellsworth E. Ames of Rochester, N. Y., this week.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Crowell and daughter of 5624 Madison avenue, left on Wednesday to spend the summer in the White mountains.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Hewitt of 557 North State street, accompanied by their niece, Miss Josephine Dubach, will sail for Europe on Aug. 8, to be away until the late fall.

Mr. E. D. Klein of St. Louis, formerly of Chicago, is visiting his sisters, the Misses Klein, of 4911 Calumet avenue.

Miss Beatrice Klein and Miss Fanchon Klein of Hartford, Conn., are visiting the Misses Klein of 4911 Calumet avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. James P. Soper and family of 611 Greenwood avenue, left Saturday for Bar Harbor, Me., where they will spend a few weeks before going to their summer home in the Adirondacks.

The engagement of Miss Florence Butler of Bellefontaine, O., and Mr. Albert P. Ross of Chicago, has been announced. The wedding will take place Aug. 13.

Mr. Walter R. Comstock of 4424 Berkeley avenue announces the marriage of his daughter, Ruth, to the Rev. Samuel Ray McCarthy of Plainfield, S. D. The marriage was performed by the Rev. Charles H. Bixby in the rectory of St. Paul's Episcopal church on Tuesday, July 6, in the presence of the immediate family. The maid of honor was Miss Mary Hess. Mr. Ross Sanderson of Kalamazoo, Mich., was the best man. Mr. and Mrs. McCarthy will be at home after the first of August at the parsonage in Spearfish, S. D.

PICNIC AIDS JEWISH CHARITY.

Fifteenth Annual Outing of the Beansfield Club Attended by More than 5,000 Persons.

More than 5,000 persons attended the fifteenth annual excursion and picnic of the Beansfield club yesterday at Elliott's park, Harrison, Ill.

During six months the organization distributes its surplus funds among Jewish charities, the Michael Reese hospital, Orthodox Jewish Home for the Aged, and the Jewish Orphans' Home asylum being the principal beneficiaries. There is $6,000 now in the treasury for distribution. The officers of the club are:

President—Hyman Epstein.
Vice president—Samuel Herron.
Recording secretary—Charles Schiff.
Financial secretary—Abraham Slott.

Instead of giving the teething baby a rubber ring to bite on give it an embroidery hoop. There is no bad taste and it will not split. Rubber often becomes brittle and the baby might swallow the bits. FLORA PARSONS.

Castor Oil.

Give the baby castor oil in white of egg, slightly beaten, instead of lemon juice. It slips down easily and is tasteless. E. W. A.

Diaper Supporter.

Get a little waist, stitch to this a strip of four ply muslin, about 4x6 inches, to the front and back of waist. Pin to this strip front and back of diaper. This will hold the diaper in place, prevent tearing of underwear, save annoyance, and keep baby comfortable. MRS. C. J. F.

Angora Hood.

Take baby's white angora hood that she has outgrown, color with drab dye until it is a squirrel color. If you have any squirrel fur use it for a band to enlarge the hood. Trim with bows and you will have a beautiful hood for your school girl. GRACE DUDLEY.

Baby's Stocking Cap.

When pretty silk stockings become worn at bottom cut out the feet and buy a pretty tassel to match. Tie neatly at bottom, and you have a stocking cap for baby. JESSIE BALLARD.

IN THE BOUDOIR

Hair Receiver.

The little Japanese parasols make pretty hair receivers. Open them half way. Put a loop of ribbon around the handle and hang them up. MRS. A. L. P.

Tired Feet.

Change the height of the heels of your shoes two or three times a week, and you will have no more tired feet. J. C. S.

Delicate Toilet Cream.

Equal parts of olive oil and talcum powder makes a good cold cream for face and hands. BESSIE WYANDT.

For Insomnia.

A basin of water placed close to the bed is a great relief. It is also a great germ catchet and purifier. MRS. SWANFIELD.

IN THE SICK ROOM

Castor Oil.

Take a small tumbler and squeeze into it a tablespoonful of orange juice; next pour in the oil; then add more juice. The oil will form a globule in the center of the juice and can be swallowed without being detected. MRS. J. P. M.

Bleeding Cut.

Apply ground flour or rice to a cut that will not stop bleeding; either will be found effective. G. H. M.

Hives.

Have the patient drink just as much water for a day as he possibly can. If he does this, he will find that the hives disappear and they will not return. A. M. S.

IN THE SEWING ROOM

Worn Undervests.

When worn undervests become frayed around the neck, buy narrow beading and run a white tape or ribbon through it. They can be drawn as closely around the neck as desired. VERA STANTON.

Handkerchief Case.

A dainty case may be made of an embroidered handkerchief. First edge the handkerchief with narrow colored satin ribbon. Fold over three of the corners and tack them together to form a pocket. On the fourth corner fasten a rosette of the satin ribbon. This will make a pretty ornament for the case when closed. T. H. D.

Bedroom Curtains.

Buy yard wide ecru cheesecloth at 5 cents a yard. Pull threads before cutting, so as to be sure of a straight hem. Put hem an inch and a half wide on side and bottom of curtains. Buy two yards of dimity striped with pink roses. Cut out these stripes of roses and stitch on curtains an inch and a half from the hems. Miter corners of border. When finished the cost is 25 cents a pair. MRS. H. V. F.

Suit Covering.

Five yards of paper cambric; cut in two strips, two and one-half yards long; join by selvages; lap over the other two selvages and button down the front. Cut a flap at the top and button over crosswise, envelope shape. Make a small opening at the top through which the coat hanger or skirt tapes can pass to hang by. It keeps your suit or light dress from the dust and is too light to crush them. It is handy to take with one on the sleeping car, as one's clothes can be kept together and hung where they will not be crushed. J. A. P.

Sheets for Small Bed.

Use forty-eight inch and fifty inch pillow case muslin. The width is just right. Measure length of bed for length and hem ends. MRS. M. E. KESSLER.

DAILY FASHION HINT.

Group of "jumpers" made of tucked pongee, embroidered linen, and of cloth with satin bands.

With the Girl Workers

Don't Be Afraid of Good Job.

I began sewing in families for 50 cents a day. When I gave up the business I was getting $2 a day. My forte was cutting and designing children's dresses and I was offered a good salary to have charge of the department as cutter and designer in one of the largest dry goods stores in Chicago. The manager had more confidence in my ability at the time than I had myself.

My reason for not accepting the position was I loved outdoor work and took up traveling.

If the position offered you seems too great, too much responsibility, remember it is not. It is just what you need. Do not be like the seamstress who worked with me—always a seamstress. She was afraid to use the scissors to cut a sleeve or anything else. Be more than just a seamstress or you who have been sewing for years are taking work away from others who are just beginning. LUCY J. YOUNG.

Married Worker Does Harm.

In answer to the question, Should married women work? I say decidedly not. Unless she is a widow or has an invalid husband.

I was left a widow seven years ago, penniless, and with one child to support I have struggled along and have realized only too often the harm those married women do to the ones that are compelled to work. They will work just for pin money or for fear they will not own a farm in their old age.

Let those women that have husbands to care for them stay at home and raise a family. Their children will buy the farm for them.

It takes every cent I earn to keep a little home for myself and boy, but feel that I am investing my money well. I had the satisfaction of seeing my son graduate this year from the grammar school at the age of 13. I hope to get him through high school and help him through college, and then I know he loves me well enough to remember mother in the right way.

So I say again we ought to discourage the idea of married women working just because they like to be modern and up to date. Their place it at home. MRS. E. SMITH.

Trained Self for Better Work.

As I am one of you, I would like to have a heart to heart talk with you. I was born of poor parents, my education was limited, but I do not blush to say it was only to the extent of fourth grade grammar school.

Being the oldest of a large family, I was forced to assist my mother in all work. Therefore my school work was neglected. At the age of 15, without an education, I had to become a bread earner. Girls of my position will know exactly what I mean, and they are many. Need I say what scanty wages a girl in that position can earn? But I did not stop at that. Although my struggles were hard and many, I accomplished much while the years went by.

I read good books, went to good shows, and attended night school. In the evenings at my leisure I would write pages upon pages, so that I could learn to write and spell properly.

Then after awhile I began to see what the brain would know the hands would accomplish beautifully. Then I began to see how beautiful the world was. How it lies within our power to become good, accomplished women. I can frankly state by following the right road we can all succeed. B. J. N.

IN THE KITCHEN

Sink Stools.

Take the wooden covers from your five pound butter boxes, nail empty silkaline spools on each corner, and use in the sink to set the dishpan on. It will save the pan and also one's back. Housekeepers will find these little stools handy for a great many things about the sink. A. C. C.

Butter Firm Without Ice.

Get a large sized porous earthen flower pot, with a large saucer; half fill the saucer with water. Set a light flat iron stand in the saucer and on this place the butter. Invert the flower pot over the whole, resting the top rim of it in the water. Close the hole in the bottom of the flower pot with a cork and place in a draft.

Dash water over the pot and repeat the process whenever it becomes dry. The water from the pot readily evaporates, making the butter cool and firm. MRS. J. H. HALL.

Sink Cleanser.

Charcoal mixed with clear water and thrown into a sink will disinfect and deodorize it. MRS. H. KOPP.

Broiled Meats.

Turn the back draft so as to carry fumes up the chimney, throw a handful of coarse salt on coals to prevent flames; use a wire toaster, slanted to the coals, to allow the lids to be set lightly on again, with the handle of toaster extending. Steak and chops can be broiled quickly over a small bed of coals in this way. Remove lids to turn steak in toaster. MRS. WESTMORE.

Kitchen Convenience.

Place about one foot above the table, a pine shelf to hold soda, salt, spice jars, etc. Fasten hooks on its edges and ends, to hang up egg-beaters, small scissors, etc. Eighteen inches above shelf screw a rack similar to a plate rack, to hold platters, lids, and such articles as are in every day use. Such a rack and shelf may be made of pine, costing only a few cents and with the table beneath will serve every purpose of an expensive cabinet. M. M.

ALL AROUND THE HOUSE

A Tight Ring.

Pass a needle and cotton under it, pull the cotton up toward the hand, twist the remaining cotton around the finger several times until it reaches the nail. By taking hold of the end nearest the hand the ring will slip off easily. MRS. A. L. P.

Furniture Polish.

One-half pint of boiled linseed oil, one-half pint of wood alcohol, one-half pint of vinegar, and a piece of washing soda the size of a walnut. MRS. MALONEY.

To Escape from Burning House.

Creep along the floor, holding the face as low as possible. As smoke ascends the air is best near the floor, where there is a current of air, enabling one to breathe when suffocation would be the result of standing upright. R. A. E.

"Back Saving" Duster.

Cover a child's broom with a close fitting bag of canton flannel; add a scant double ruffle at lower edge, about two inches in width. You now have a duster convenient for reaching the top of the highest picture or lowest point of table and chairs, without straining or bending the back. By making several bags, with drawstrings at the top, they may be easily changed when soiled. MRS. E. C. MCCLELLAND.

IN THE SHOPS

Hatpin Holder.

A unique hatpin holder which is much more practical than the old fashioned tall, vase-like article, is displayed in one shop. It has two receptacles for hatpins, a vase and a pin cushion, the former rising from the center of the latter, which is a round velvet cushion, resting in an attractive silver base. This new holder is appreciated by the up to date woman for there is ample space for the numerous large hatpins which take an important place among "the little things that count."

Lingerie Blouses—

Of the finest dimities, sheer lawns, dotted and figured, striped and cross barred swisses, are made with fine pin tucks in yoke, collar, and cuffs and have no other trimming. They range in price from $1.50 to $2.50. The economical woman will buy one of these plain waists and trim it with Val or Cluny lace and insertions.

A Pretty Spoon—

Intended as a gift to an infant has a gold bowl with a baby's head engraved on it. The design of the handle is delicately ornamental. With the spoon the donor sent a bit of charming verse, found in a scrap book of unidentified clippings, supposed to be voiced by the spoon to the baby, one sentiment being the avowed purpose of the former to watch closely, when its bowl should be in the little pink mouth of the baby, for the first tooth.

RENOVATING AND CLEANING

Good Duster.

Take a large square of worn sheeting; wrap around whisk broom to dust upholstered furniture. Cleaning will be thorough and the nap never raised. Excellent for thoroughly dusting woodwork, and if used upon small hearth broom will prevent tiresome stooping to wipe baseboards. E. B. B.

Tan Shoes.

Wipe with a damp cloth to remove spots. If much soiled rub hard to get them nice and clean. Polish with a soft, dry flannel and they will look like new, not turning dark like tan shoes do when polish is used on them. MRS. F. J. PAQUIN.

Rust Spots.

Have a teakettle full of boiling water on the stove; take the garment dry; cut a lemon in two and squeeze juice on the spots and hold over the steaming spout of the kettle. The spots of rust will soon yield to the treatment. MRS. H. H. FAIRBANKS.

IN THE GARDEN

Parsley Bed in Garden.

When making a garden in your back yard plant a row of parsley around the edge of the bed. This will be a great addition to the garden and be invaluable for garnishing. KATE WELLS.

Fence Shelves.

Have a set of shelves built like a step-ladder; boxes of rich earth placed on the shelves; boxes and ladder painted red or gray. Fasten ladder to fence or windows. Plant flowers that bloom freely. This will give you a mass of flowers and make the garden attractive. N. I. S.

TESTED RECIPES

Corn Pudding.

One quart of grated corn, one-fourth of a cup of melted butter, salt and pepper to taste. Add four well beaten eggs, three tablespoonfuls flour mixed with one pint sweet milk. Cover and bake, uncovering long enough to brown lightly before serving. MRS. CORNELIA ZANE.

Southern Salad Dressing.

Two-thirds cup of orange juice, two tablespoons lemon juice, one-half cup sugar, one scant tablespoon cornstarch, one beaten egg. Mix and let cook thoroughly. When cool pour over oranges, pineapple, and walnuts. Cut in little chunks and serve in orange or apple cups on a bed of lettuce leaves. MRS. E. J. WELLS.

Egg Lemonade.

Beat an egg light and stir thoroughly in lemonade. Allow one egg to every four glasses of lemonade. MRS. BERTHA SHELDON.

Smothered Eggs.

Poach in well salted water the requisite number of eggs until quite firm or hard. Arrange on fancy platter and pour over eggs the following dressing: One cup sweet milk, one-third cup butter, one-third cup vinegar, two eggs, well beaten, with one tablespoon corn starch; one-third spoon pepper, and same of celery salt, with salt to taste. Boil all until a thick gravy, and pour over. Eat cold or warm. Garnish with parsley. ANNA A. HOGAN.

Summer Dessert.

Wash and clean one cup of rice; put in double boiler and cook until mealy. Wash and clean one box of strawberries; mash them in bowl. Beat together one cup of sugar and one-fourth cup of butter; add one egg. Serve the rice hot; put the berries over it and over all the cream sauce. It is much nicer if the berries and cream sauce are on the ice one hour before serving. MRS. HOLDEN.

French Pudding.

Whites of six eggs, three-fourths cup prunes cooked and chopped fine, 10 cents' worth English walnuts, cup sugar; put sugar through sieve three or four times; cup nuts and prunes, beat egg, stir together in bowl; put in pan and bake in slow oven for forty minutes. MISS IDA KEYS.

Celery Salad.

Six heads of celery; one egg yolk; one teaspoonful of mustard, a little salt and pepper, the juice of one lemon, three tablespoonsful of water, four ounces of olive oil. Wash the celery and dry; cut in pieces into the salad bowl. Mix the egg, mustard, pepper, salt, lemon juice, and water. Pour the olive oil over it, drop by drop; then add a teaspoon of boiling water and pour the whole over the celery. MRS. BOUTON.

Sardine Sandwiches.

Take one can of sardines put up in oil, mix well with fork, adding enough catsup to make bright red. Mix thoroughly and spread on thin buttered slices of bread. The mixture provides enough for one loaf of bread. MRS. B. D. BOAM.

Crumb Torta.

Six tablespoons bread crumbs, one cup sugar, three eggs, beaten together; one teaspoon baking powder, one-half pound dates, washed and cut into small pieces; 10 cents' worth shelled English walnuts, cut into pieces. Mix all together, putting into greased and floured pan. Bake in moderate oven until firm, and serve with whipped cream. E. A. MCCOY.

Light in the Dark Closet.

Every woman who has experienced how disagreeable a task it is to search for something wanted in a dark closet—especially in hot weather—will appreciate the advantage of having an electric service in the home. Simply turn the switch and flood the dark closet with light! No danger of fire and none of the discomfort of hunting for things with a lamp or candle. A detail like this is only one illustration of the manifold advantages of having your home wired for electric service. The cost, considering its varied usefulness, is very low indeed—well within the means of all. For full particulars call Main 1280. Chicago Edison Co., Commonwealth Electric Co., 139 Adams street.

BY SY.

Frank Smith was consumed by a laudable ambition to trim Washington twice in one day when he reported at White Sox park yesterday and would have achieved his purpose if it had rained a little harder in the fifth inning when the weather bureau drove part of the big overflow crowd to shelter and threatened to terminate the bargain sale prematurely.

The Pittsburg strong man held the Senators down to three hits and won the first game, 3 to 1, but Cantillon's tribesmen resented the insinuation they were so easy one man could lick them twice in an afternoon and went after Smith hard in the second half. But the Sox amassed three runs with the help of three errors early in the second game and were on their way to a second victory when the drizzle began in the fifth.

Whether this extraneous moisture sterilized Smith's damp floater or whether his eel ball finger became calloused with overwork doesn't matter. The Senators tied up the score in the sixth, after which Smith stepped from under and let Owen finish. Three solid swats for extra bases in the eighth settled Chicago's chances for a cleanup on the series, gave the enemy the game, 5 to 3, and enabled Washington to run away with one out of five here.

Dougherty Stars with the Stick.

Falkenberg was the fall guy in the curtain raiser and, although wilder than a scion of Pittsburg society, was effective except against Dougherty, whose batting, along with that of Delehanty, was one of the day's features. Dougherty smashed out three clean singles in the first game and his fourth swat was a line fly straight into Delehanty's hands. In the second game Pat bagged two. Delehanty made two hits in each game and one of them was a double, with which he led the winning rally off Owen in the eighth of the second half. Delehanty also ran wild on the bases, stealing three during the session.

The Sox field work was remarkably clean and fast, not even a near error marring their day's work, while some of the play was sensational. Manager Jones in particular woke up the stands with a diving catch in the last round of the first game which robbed Altizer of a hit. This circus feat came between two other catches by Jones which were fairly difficult, but looked easy by comparison. Heyden vied with his former manager by doing a trick stunt in the sixth inning of the first game, catching a foul close to the grandstand and falling on his ear, but holding the ball. Davis, Hahn, Rohe, and Quillin all shared in the fielding honors by handling difficult chances with infallible certainty.

Slow at the Outset.

It was tough going for awhile in the first game. The Senators could not land a hit off Smith in three rounds and in that time the Sox got only one, yet came mighty near scoring a run. Falkenberg passed McFarland in the second inning. Quillin bunted himself to death and Smith was passed. Hahn forced Smith, putting McFarland on third, and when a double steal was attempted Heyden muffed Altizer's good return to the plate, but grabbed up the ball in time to get the decision from O'Loughlin.

Washington broke Smith's guard in the fourth. Altizer and Delehanty rapped out singles, the shortstop sprinting to third on "Del's" rap. There was one out and Anderson's fly scored Altizer. A fumble of an easy chance by Nill gave the Sox the opportunity to win in their half. Jones was retired when the fumble came off on Donohue's roller. Rohe was thrown out at first, but Dougherty arrived with his second clean hit, scoring "Jiggs." Davis smashed a double through right center, on which Dougherty sprinted home. Falkenberg passed McFarland and Quillin, filling the bases, then struck out Smith for the third victim.

Smith Puzzles Visitors.

The game was over right there, for the visitors made just one more hit off Smith in five innings. Delehanty got that at the start of the seventh and went as far as third before the side was retired. To guard against accident the Sox made one more in their seventh. Smith was passed with one out, went to second on a wild pitch, to third on Shipke's boot of Jones' roller, and scored on Donohue's rap to safety in left. There might have been trouble in the ninth but for Jones. The manager went into right after Ganley's hit, dove in close behind second to get Altizer's drive just off the ground, and tore back into deep left center for Delehanty's long wallop, ending the game. Score:

Cheer Ambitious Pitcher.

There was a great cheer from the multitude when Smith came back for the second act, but he fell into trouble at the start. Two were down when the demon slugger Delehanty came up and singled, stole second, and scored easily on Anderson's drive to center for one base. Smith stopped the slugging for a time, however, and the Sox crowded into the lead in the third.

Quillin led in that round with a single to left. Smith bunted and lived because Patten juggled, then threw wide of first. Nill backed up and got the ball in time to throw out by twenty feet Quillin, who kept going for third, thinking the ball had gone astray. But Nill threw toward left field instead of third and Quillin lived. Hahn was thrown out by Patten, but Jones singled to center, scoring Quillin. Warner failed to stop Ganley's throw home and Smith came in while Jack was chasing the leather. Jones reached third and scored the third run on Donohue's fly to Ganley.

It commenced to rain shortly after this and the rooters were urging everyone to "hurry" to get in the necessary rounds. They didn't mind when Shipke's single, Warner's out, and Ganley's single scored a Washington run in the fifth, for it did not look as if the game would last five minutes longer. But the clouds which had been so threatening suddenly changed their minds and stopped leaking.

Visitors Forge Into Lead.

The visitors tied it up in the sixth with Altizer's single and Hickman's triple, then Smith was coaxed to give up the task in Owen's favor. "Ypsi" got away with the seventh finely, but in the eighth, one down, Delehanty whaled a double to left and Anderson drove a triple past Dougherty in left center breaking the tie. Owen fooled Hickman into biting at a slow one, grabbed the ball and ran Anderson out on the line, but Nill hit a double to left center scoring Hickman and cinching the game.

After the third inning the Sox made only three singles off Patten and these were perfect strangers to each other. Score:

NOTES OF THE WHITE SOX.

New York today.

Manager Cantillon gave up trying to coach his clan into victory, so sat on the bench in citizen's dress and kept his men awake.

Three better catches in succession than Jones made in the ninth of the first game do not often occur in that limited space of time.

Davis made a one handed stop of a hot one from Hayden in the eighth of the first game, which inspired the rooters to "prolonged applause."

The Senators made ten hits for a total of sixteen bases in the second game, falling only one shy in the totals of the slugging the Sox did on Saturday.

Quillin made two fine stops and throws in succession in the fourth of the second game off Hickman and Nill. Either hit would have scored a run had he missed it, as Delehanty was waiting to go home.

Rohe came near to retiring the whole side in the second of the first game. He caught popups from Anderson and Hickman, and could have taken Hill's, too, but Jones thought it a little too far out, and took it himself.

The Highlanders are due for six games in four days this trip, as there are no open dates in their schedule here, and two games are left over from their first visit. That was one reason why Manager Jones permitted Smith to try to realize his ambition of winning two games yesterday.

O'Loughlin was greeted as warmly as if he were one of the world's champs when he blew into the inclosure to start the trouble. His side partner, Tim Hurst, was half an inning late, but Tim had an alibi, for play was started ahead of time, on account of the threatening skies.

Jones ordered Owen to pass Hickman in the eighth of the second game, with Anderson on third and one out. Frank pitched three wide balls, then thought he could sneak one over the plate, but Hickman fouled it off. Then Owen lobbed up a slow curve and tempted the batsman into swinging on it. The result was an easy bounder, on which Anderson was run to death.

The mob in the bleachers broke the fence near the left foul line and poured into the lot to mingle with the higher society which overflowed from the grand stand. A policeman out in center field calmly watched these proceedings without attempting to stop them, as it was "off his beat," probably. It was necessary to send a bluecoat all the way from the grand stand to stop the gap, or the whole mass of bleacherites would have been on the field.

VICTORY FOR THE OAK LEAS.

Score a Twelve Inning Victory Over the Leland Giants.

SCORE AT FINISH IS 4 TO 3.

Artesians Beat the Spaldings; South Chicagos Win from River Forests.

The Oak Leas scored a notable victory yesterday by beating the Leland Giants on the latter's grounds at Auburn Park. The score was 4 to 3 and it took twelve innings to do the job.

Juul's pitching was none too effective, the colored men batting him safely fifteen times, but Herbie rewarded the good support he received by pitching steadily in tight places and finally by driving in Beyers with the winning run. Score:

ARTESIANS TRIM SPALDINGS.

Pitcher Thornton Wins His Second Game in Two Days, the Score Being 6 to 5.

Jack Thornton won his second game in two days by defeating the Spaldings at Artesian park, the Artesians winning by the score of 6 to 5. Leitman retired in the third inning on account of an injury and "Big Jack" had hard work the rest of the way working himself out of several bad holes. The hitting of Conroy, Thornton, and Meier were other features. Score:

PLAY A 23 INNING CONTEST.

Green Bay Wins Record Breaking Wisconsin League Game, 2 to 1.

LA CROSSE IS LOSING TEAM.

Pitchers Do Great Work—Fans Go to Battle After Supper.

Green Bay, Wis., July 14.—[Special.]—Green Bay won the final game of the series from La Crosse today in the longest game ever played in the Wisconsin State league. It took twenty-three innings to decide the contest, 2 to 1.

In the last part of the twenty-third inning Graves reached first on a single, stole second, and scored the winning run on a two base drive by Ott. Green Bay scored a run in the third inning and La Crosse followed suit in the first part of the ninth on two errors.

Many people flocked out to the game after supper and were in time to see five innings. Parish pitched twenty innings and was replaced by Hastings, who held the champs to three hits. The pitchers worked in perfect form. Jones, one of the greatest twirlers in the league, had his right hand injured by a fast liner in the fifteenth inning and was forced to retire. Ballies succeeded him and worked well until found for the two hits by Graves and Ott in the twenty-third.

Two La Crosse runners were cut off at the plate by perfect throws by Graves. Score:

CHANCE CAN PLAY AGAIN TOMORROW

Pulliam Sends Word of Reinstatement in Advance of Ticker Strike.

EVEN BREAK ON THE TRIP

Cubs Have Won Four and Lost Four Games to Date Since Leaving Home.

BY CHARLES DRYDEN.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 14.—[Special.]—The impending strike of telegraph operators induced President Pulliam to seat himself, typewriter in hand, and raise the suspension of Manager Frank Chance. A letter came this morning notifying the player he could resume active outdoor life on July 16, which will let the peerless play in the first game at Boston next Tuesday, following a suspension of one week.

As a usual thing Pulliam inflicts punishment and pardons athletes by wire. He took no chance of notifying the Cub leader by that method later in the week for fear the message would be held up. The welcome letter reached Chance while he was at breakfast, and the waiter brought him an extra piece of cantaloupe in honor of the event.

Mr. Pulliam regretted being compelled to inflict any penalty at all. The ten years' record of Capt. Chance for good behavior was all in his favor and Mr. Pulliam complimented the manly action of the player in calling at the National league headquarters and confessing his first and only mistake. For these reasons the president was inclined to leniency and limited the suspension to one week. Chance at once replied thanking Mr. Pulliam and promising to be a good athlete in the future.

The Cubs congratulated their leader and with him back in the harness will endeavor to make better progress on the rest of the trip, which is an even split to date—four won and four lost.

The Brooklyn club was more to blame than was Chance for the outbreak last Monday. There is absolutely no protection for players or public. The presence of one cop or special policeman would have prevented the trouble. Chance was goaded to frenzy by a bunch of filthy tongued galoots and he stood it until they pelted him with bottles. Then he lost control and retaliated, which would pass for human nature anywhere except in baseball. Mr. Pulliam should give Chance two errors in the official averages for missing the rowdies he aimed at. The only grave feature of the case was the danger of hitting innocent persons.

John Kling has crippled himself eating cucumbers.

New York Nationals Get Third Baseman Doyle from Springfield Three Eyes Club for High Price.

Springfield, Ill., July 14.—[Special.]—The biggest deal ever consummated in the history of the Three Eyes league was put through today, when Lawrence Doyle, the fast third baseman of the Springfield team, was sold to the New York Nationals for $4,500. The sale was completed by telegraph this morning while the team was at Decatur.

Manager Kinsella notified Doyle of the change and the youngsters will go to the Nationals immediately after the series of games with Bloomington, which opened today.

Doyle was purchased on the recommendation of Dan Brouthers, who came here to look at his work. Kinsella was loath to part with him.

Starting Worries Officials of the Jockey Club. Good Week for Local Golfers.

STARTER'S TASK PROVES A WORRY

Jockey Club May Adopt 'Walk-up' System for All Races Next Season.

HAS BEEN TRIED BEFORE.

Western Officials May Be Secured for the August Meeting at Yonkers.

New York, July 14.—[Special.]—The Jockey club stewards have been discussing the starting problem at great length. They have reached the definite conclusion that there will be no change in the present method of sending the horses away from the barrier until next season. At the opening of the next campaign at Bennings the "walkup" system will be permitted, and if it can be shown to be the most satisfactory way of starting the races it will be permanently adopted.

It is said a majority of the stewards are yielding to the wild clamor of the alarmists and have decided that the flat footed start must be supplanted by the system which Mars Cassidy first introduced in the east and since has been declared to be impracticable.

Sport for Yonkers.

While there is no time left to arrange for attractive stakes to be decided next month at the Yonkers track, the distribution of liberal added winnings in overnight events is sure to attract good horses. It is an easy matter to secure competent racing officials, for the west can provide plenty of them. With Richard Dwyer or Jack Holtman handling the barrier, Capt. Reese or Francis Trevelyan in the judges' stand, there will be no need of depending upon the Jockey club to provide officials for these places. The Yonkers management simply has to win the confidence of the public to make the proposed meeting a huge success.

Features for This Week.

The racing at Brighton so far has been highly successful and the attendance has been greater than ever before. President C. J. Fitzgerald has catered to the demands of the public and the Brighton Beach Racing association is reaping the reward in full measure.

Tuesday the Sea Gate stakes for 3 year olds, at one mile and a furlong, will be run, with Superman, Montgomery, Ethon, Kentucky Beau, Faust, Arcite, Charles Edward, Dinna Ken, Frank Gill, and others eligible.

The Venus stakes for 2 year old fillies will be run Wednesday, with Stamina, Fancy, Tartar Maid, Lady Winifred, Ella O'Neill, Laughing Eyes, Keep Moving, and Julia Powell probable starters.

On Thursday the Queens stakes of $7,500, for mares, at 1¼ miles, will be the feature, with Court Dress, Flip Flap, Yankee Girl, Belle of Pequest, Misgivings, Gold Lady, and others.

Saturday's card is the best of the week. The Curragh steeplechase will enlist all the good jumpers. The Islip handicap at a mile and a furlong has such eligibles at Flip Flap, Nealon, Montgomery, Tony Faust, Superman, Frank Gill, Cairngorm, Far West, Electioneer, and First Premium. A third feature is the $7,500 Neptune stakes for 2 year olds, with Masque, Chapultepec, Smoky, Long Ball, Monopolist, Sir Cleges, King James, Stargowan, Ben Fleet, Beaucoup, and King's Plate probable starters.

Rugar Allows Only Two Hits, Which Come in Ninth Inning, and Pirates Lose—Score, 6 to 0.

Earl Rugar's pitching was too much for the Pirates yesterday, only two hits being made off him, and the travelers being shut out by the Gunthers by a score of 6 to 0, at Gunther park. The two hits both came in the ninth, robbing him of a no-hit game. McInerney played a star game at second, accepting twelve chances without an error. Score:

CLOSE GAME TO WEST ENDS.

Defeat the White Rocks by a Score of 2 to 1—Munch and Merz Pitch Well.

Walter Hickey won the West Ends their game with the White Rocks yesterday at West End park by coming home when Uckerman was being run down between first and second base, the final count being 2 to 1 in favor of the home team. Both Munch and Merz pitched good ball, the former getting great support. Score:

TWO BIG EVENTS FOR THE GOLFERS

Glen View's Annual Tourney This Week a Feature of Local Calendar.

PLAY STARTS WEDNESDAY

Advertising Men Begin Yearly Competition at Midlothian on Tuesday.

With another national tournament passed into history the local golfing mind will revert this week to events on the home courses. There are two conspicuous features to the week—Glen View's seventh annual tournament and the yearly golfing stunts of the advertising interests at the Midlothian Country club.

Glen View's event is one of the biggest of the year on the local club calendar, embracing play for such well known trophies as the Glen View cup, the Directors' cup, and the Veteran cup, with various side features. Previous winners of the Glen View cup have been the late William Holabird Jr., 1901; Walter Egan, 1902 and 1905; Louis N. James, 1903; Knowlton Ames, 1904; Warren K. Wood, 1906. John D. Towne of the home club won the Directors' cup two years ago, and Harry Gardner took it to Hinsdale last year. C. C. Allen of Kenosha won the Veteran cup two years ago, and Martin M. Gridley brought it back to Glen View last year.

Schedule of Play.

A summary of the Glen View program follows:

WEDNESDAY.

Glen View cup—Qualifying rounds, 18 holes a. m., 18 holes p. m., sixteen to qualify.

Directors' cup—Sixteen lowest scores failing to qualify for Glen View cup eligible; cup becomes property of winner.

Veteran cup (presented by W. L. Brown)—The next sixteen scores in qualifying round for Glen View cup eligible; cup becomes property of winner.

THURSDAY.

10 a. m.—First round match play for all three cups, 18 holes.

1:30 p. m.—Second round, 18 holes.

FRIDAY.

Semi-final rounds, 36 holes—18 in the morning and 18 in the afternoon.

SATURDAY.

Final rounds, 36 holes—18 in morning and 18 in afternoon.

10 a. m.—North Branch trophy, 18 holes, scratch medal play; club from which winner is entered to have custody of cup for one year; winner to receive gold medal; second to receive silver medal.

1:30 p. m.—Mixed foursome, 18 holes, medal play, handicap; prizes for best gross, best net, and second net scores.

Entries for the Glen View cup close tomorrow at 6 p. m., with sports and pastimes committee, Golf, Ill. Entries for North Branch trophy and mixed foursome close on Friday at 6 p. m.

Ad Men Start on Tuesday.

The advertisers' tournament at Midlothian begins on Tuesday and closes on Friday. President Stack, in accordance with custom, will drive from the first tee at 9 a. m., the caddy returning the ball receiving a $5 gold piece. From that on the qualifying round at eighteen holes will progress in three divisions.

On Wednesday the first match round will be played in the forenoon and the second match round in the afternoon. The semi-finals will take place Thursday forenoon, and the finals will proceed all day Friday, eighteen holes being played in the forenoon and eighteen in the afternoon. On Thursday afternoon there will be the annual team match, east against west, and also four ball foursome in three divisions. Friday afternoon there will be handicap competition in two divisions.

Out of Town Players Coming.

The advertisers are coming from many points to take part in the tournament, and for the benefit of those who cannot secure accommodations at the clubhouse, and do not want to make the trip to the city, several Pullman cars will be sidetracked near the Midlothian course.

Nearly two scores of prizes are offered to the successful and lucky players, and the event is growing in dimensions each year.

GOLF EVENTS AT PITTSBURG.

Travers, Travis, and Others in Sunday Play at the Allegheny Country Club.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 14.—[Special.]—National Golf Champion Jerome K. Travers left Cleveland Saturday night with a party of golfers engaged in the championship competition and stopped over today at the Allegheny Country club at Sewickley Heights, Pa. In the party, besides the Pittsburg golfers, were Archie Graham, W. J. Travis, Fred Herreshoff, C. H. Seeley, A. M. Reid, Harold D. Sands, Hugo Johnstone, T. W. Stevenson, A. W. Tillinghast, and W. C. Carnegie. Today the cracks played over the course. In the morning there was an eighteen hole medal play for a gold medal offered by Dallas C. Byers. It was won by Travis. Travers did not have his score counted, as he merely was playing around. Travis and Herreshoff tied at 73. Herreshoff missed a two foot putt on the home hole. It was agreed to play a foursome in the afternoon. At the fifteenth hole Travis was three strokes ahead, when Herreshoff lost his ball and gave it up. The same thing occurred at the home hole to Travis. Bogey for the course is 78. The scores were:

W. J. Travis—

A. W. Tillinghast	45	40	85
J. E. Porter	46	40	86

J. D. Travers and Hugo Johnstone did not return cards.

Cups for the foursome were won by W. J. Travis and E. M. Byers. This pair were at scratch with Herreshoff and Travers. At the end of the eighteenth hole they tied with 73 and played an extra nine holes, Byers and Travis winning by a stroke.

YACHTS READY FOR REGATTA.

Interlake Association Event Opens Today at Put-in-Bay.

ENTRY LIST NOT COMPLETE.

Sailors May Enter Boats Up to 7 O'clock This Morning.

Put-in Bay, O., July 14.—A large number of trim, jaunty looking yachts are in the harbor today to take part in the thirteenth annual regatta of the Interlake Yachting association, which begins tomorrow morning. The list of entries was not complete today. Entries for all races must be made with the secretary and treasurer before 7 a. m. tomorrow.

The preliminary gun for the triangular race will be fired at 8 a. m., the preparatory at 8:20, starting at 8:30 for 21 foot class, 8:35 for class A, 8:40 for 18 foot class, 8:45 for 16 foot class, and 8:50 for catboats.

Commodore George H. Worthington, with a party of friends who are his guests on the Priscilla, arrived here on Sunday. In the party are George B. Cox and C. H. Davis of Cincinnati, J. H. Wade, M. A. Bradley, T. F. Newman, and Commodore Rice of Cleveland.

The first social feature on the program will be an old style smoker in the Beebe house ordinary tomorrow evening.

PLAN NOVEL MOTOR BOAT TRIP.

Effort Will Be Made to Carry Message to President Roosevelt from Chicago to St. Louis.

Peoria, July 14.—[Special.]—The Illinois Valley Yacht club of Peoria will ask the coöperation of the Chicago power boat clubs and that of the Illini Y. C. of St. Louis in carrying out a motor boat relay race between Chicago and St. Louis to attempt to take a message of greeting from Mayor Busse to President Roosevelt in St. Louis on Oct. 2. The route of the race will be through the Illinois-Michigan canal, the entire length of the navigable Illinois river, and forty miles on the Mississippi. Illinois valley yachtmen estimate that the trip of about 360 miles can easily be done within thirty-six hours.

If the Chicago power boat men can navigate the canal at a rate of six or seven miles per hour, Illinois valley boatmen will guarantee to negotiate the entire length of the Illinois at a pace of from thirteen to fifteen miles and under the best of conditions at a rate of twenty-one miles an hour.

This innovation is the first of the kind ever attempted in the history of motor boating in the state.

GOOD ONE ON CATCHER ROTH.

Umpire Calls It a "Tie Lick," and Sends Player Back to Bat on a Hit.

"Speaking of funny umpires, the best I ever met was in a small town in Illinois," said Frank Roth, the Brewer catcher, during a fanning bee of the players the other day. "We were barnstorming at the time, and one day we played a team in a dinky town somewhere in the bush. I was at bat, bunted the ball, and started to beat it to first, with the umpire racing after me. I reached the bag at the same time as the ball, and turned to the umpire to hear the decision.

"'It's a tie lick,' he shouted. 'Go back and bat over.'

"Argument was useless, and I had to return and take another chance. I struck out the next time.

"That 'tie lick' expression struck me as one of the funniest things I ever had heard."—Milwaukee Free Press.

FIST FIGHT IN WESTERN LEAGUE

"Ducky" Holmes of Lincoln Team Exchanges Blows with Umpire Cicotte at Des Moines.

Des Moines, Ia., July 14.—[Special.]—The second game of a double header here today broke up in a fist fight between Manager "Ducky" Holmes of Lincoln and Outfielder Corkhill of Des Moines. Cicotte, the Lincoln pitcher, was serving as umpire, and allowed Holmes to run out around the base line to dodge the catcher. The game continued for an inning, but in passing Holmes and Cicotte made uncomplimentary remarks and then clinched and exchanged blows. They were separated and the game called. Both teams returned to town in street cars. Scores:

PABST MILWAUKEE

Pabst Purity

The way Pabst secures absolutely pure yeast for fermenting beer proves the care that surrounds every step in making Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer.

To secure an absolutely uniform fermentation, Pabst takes a single cell from its millions of fellows in the drop of pure yeast, and from this one cell grows or cultivates the yeast required for each brew.

Pabst Blue Ribbon
The Beer of Quality

is fermented in hermetically sealed vats. From the time it is brewed until it is bottled it never comes in contact with the atmosphere or human hands. It is then properly matured or aged in air-tight, cold-storage tanks.

When ordering beer, ask for Pabst Blue Ribbon.

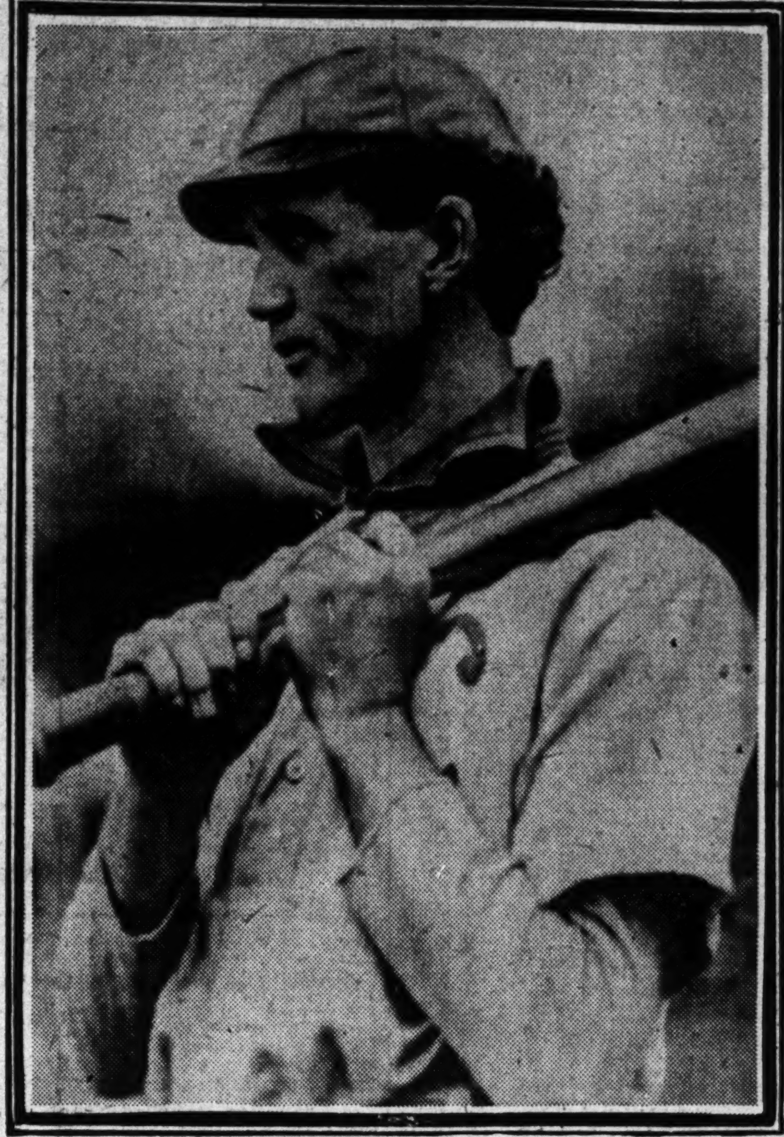
His Bat Is Helping Out the White Sox.



DOUGHERTY

Pat Dougherty, the White Sox outfielder, is regaining the batting eye which made him famous a few years ago. He started out the season poorly, but along the middle of May began to get his eye on the ball. Now he has an average of .311 for the season, including yesterday's game. On May 1 his average was .178.

GOOD SHOOTING BY J. S. YOUNG.

Wins Board of Trade Challenge Cup—Breaks Fifty Straight in Another Match.

J. S. Young won the Board of Trade Challenge cup yesterday at the Chicago Gun club grounds, making the best score ever recorded in the event by breaking forty-nine out of fifty targets. Mr. Young shot from the twenty yard mark. He followed up this performance by making a perfect score of fifty straight in the second event, Lem Willard being a close second, with forty-nine, and Joe Barte and George Roll only one lower.

Rangers, 9; North Chicago, 1.

The Libertyville Rangers defeated the North Chicago White Sox at Libertyville yesterday, 9 to 1. Batteries—Burns and Gastra; Byers and Seller.

HACKETT WINS FROM WESTFALL

Captures Challenge Round in Singles in New York State Tennis Championship.

New York, July 14.—Harold H. Hackett of the West Side Tennis club defeated Herbert L. Westfall of the King's County Lawn Tennis club in the challenge round for the New York state lawn tennis singles championship on the courts of the New York Athletic club, Travers island, this morning. Hackett defended the title, which he won last year for the first time, and thus got a second leg on the bowl offered by the Staten Island Cricket and Tennis club. Hackett played a sure and safe game and let Westfall tire himself out by hard driving. The scores were 10—8, 6—4, and 7—5. Westfall had a good lead in the first and third sets, but could not hold it.

INDIAN STARS IN LACROSSE MATCH

Mynew Scores Ten Goals and Chicagos Beat the Calumets, 16 to 5.

ONE SIDED THROUGHOUT.

Contest Is Less Rough than Usual, but Three Players Are Penalized.

The Chicagos ran away with the second game of the lacrosse series for the Comiskey cup yesterday afternoon, defeating the Calumets by a onesided count of 16 goals to 5, at the Wanderers' grounds at Parkside. It was a ripping game all the way with the Chicagos doing the ripping, and at no stage were the Calumets dangerous. The latter team, however, was handicapped seriously by the absense of several of its best players, C. Donnelly, Stevenson, Westland, and Young not appearing in the lineup.

The crack Indian player of the Chicagos, P. Mynew, showed some of the best lacrosse ever seen in Chicago. He alone scored enough goals to beat almost any team. Mynew was responsible for ten of the sixteen scores pushed through the opposing goal. He was all over the field and, working combination plays with Kearney, had little trouble in scoring.

The Chicagos were on the offensive in every period, while the defensive work of the Calumets was not especially strong. In the third period all of the five goals registered were made by the Chicagos, Mynew again getting in his clever playing. Morrison and Two Axes also played well for the winners, while Beaton and Culbertson did the best work for the Calumets.

Little rough work marred the game, although three players were put out. Two Axes was requested by referee O'Malley to step to the side lines for five minutes in the second period. P. Mynew, the "scoring fiend," got tangled up with Rouge of the Calumets in the fourth period and both were "chased" for the remainder of the contest. Lineup:

CAUTION— STEINWAY PIANOS AS DECOYS. We do not advertise Steinway pianos, either by newspaper advertisements or signs in our windows, at absurdly low prices to decoy you into our warerooms that we may sell you something else. In the course of active business we come into possession of many used Steinway upright pianos and these instruments we thoroughly repair and offer at a low, fair price. They are for sale to any comer, and are not "just sold" when inquired for. You may see them, buy them without argument, and have them delivered promptly. When you start to buy a second hand Steinway and find you have been decoyed, don't be put off with something else. LYON & HEALY, Wabash-av. and Adams-st.

WHEAT TRADERS ON FENCE.

Pending More Definite Crop News Operators Employ Caution.

NORTHWEST ADVICES BAD.

Spring Plant Reported to Be Making Little Progress.

Speculatively, the wheat trade at the moment is on the fence. Both bulls and bears are flaunting strong arguments, but neither side appears willing to make much of a move, however hard they argue. The earlier sessions last week found the market engulfed in bearish sentiment, but toward the end of the period unfavorable crop advices from spring wheat territory checked the aggressiveness of the price pounders and inspired considerable courage in the ranks of the price defenders. Pit developments strongly indicated an extensive short interest, and the covering by shorts was one of the principal tonics. Covering a range of about 5c, the final quotations on Saturday showed net losses of 2⅜c for July, 2@2⅛c for September, and 1⅝c for December, as compared to the last figures of the previous week.

The government's July report, while indicating a big shortage as compared to last year's outturn, was given mild bearish construction. Selling against it, however, was fairly well offset by purchases. Bulls argued that material damage had been done both southwest and northwest between the compilation of the statement and its issuance. A total yield of about 620,000,000 bu on the popularly accepted basis was indicated, the crops of winter and spring last year being in the neighborhood of 735,000,000 bu.

Watch New Wheat Offerings.

The preliminary pressure of new wheat was one of the weakening influences of the week. Early in the period offerings were reported to be liberal, but the later days witnessed less liberality on the part of the growers in the matter of offerings. The run of wheat is not nearly so large as that of a year ago at this time, and men close to the situation do not believe that the movement will approach pretentious proportions for a long time to come. Last year at this time the daily receipts at primary points were not far from 1,000,000 bu.

Some of the advices from spring wheat territory bordered on the sensational. Aside from the lateness of the crop, the Dakotas and Minnesota deluged the market with reports of rust and "bugs," drought, and too much moisture. Some northwesterners reputed for conservatism declare that the spring wheat yield will not be more than 60 per cent of last year's crop. News from the other side of the international border was mixed, but there was much in it to keep apprehension at high pitch.

Thrashing returns in the southwest were, on the whole, considered favorable in view of the unusual vicissitudes of the freakish growing season. Some authorities "see" a winter wheat outturn of close to 400,000,000 bu, but others of equal prominence cannot figure on more than 300,000,000 bu. This diversity of opinion is doing much toward keeping the traders on the uneasy seat.

Big Shortage Abroad.

It is generally conceded that the shortage abroad will assume large proportions. Some calculators express the belief that the world's shortage will not be far from 500,000,000 bu. Conservatives, however, regard this as an extravagant estimate. Broomhall believes that the shortage will be about 288,000,000 bu, allowing a deficiency of 104,000,000 bu in this country. There was a continued, steady stream of unfavorable crop advices from Germany and the united kingdom last week, and, as a rule, the principal foreign marts reflected the increasing apprehension. Bears insist that the foreigners must come after American red winter of the old crop before there can be much of an upturn from prevailing prices. Bulls figure that the time is not far distant when this variety will be taken freely by the Europeans. The dearth of outside speculative activity is against the market, which continues to be almost entirely a professional scalping affair. The uncertainty which has surrounded the difficulty between the telegraph operators and their employers also has had a depressing effect on general commission business.

Weather Fine for Corn.

Weakness was generally characteristic of last week's corn market, the most depressing factor being the fine growing weather. Despite the more propitious conditions, however, there was a steady inrunning of discouraging advices from many sections of the belt, the plant being reported backward and surprisingly unresponsive to better weather conditions. Bullish construction was given to the government's report on corn. On the popular basis, it was figured that this year's yield would fall fully 400,000,000 bu under last year's outturn. Taking into consideration the rapidly expanding consumptive demand, bulls insist that this country must have a crop as large as last year's if prices are to be held where they now are.

"A late start is the worst thing for corn," said the owner of much corn land in this state. "It cannot be denied that the crop is from three to four weeks late and that the possibility of the plant butting into early autumn frosts is pronounced. The lateness is not in any particular locality, but all over the producing country. The situation in the southwest is sensationally bad, and in the northern sections farmers have practically given up hope of raising even a fair crop. Corn is headed for a much loftier level, and it will get there on legitimate conditions alone."

The movement from the country is not burdensome and the general cash demand is considered satisfactory, although the east still does business on the hand to mouth order. Week end quotations showed net losses of 1⅛c for July, 1@1⅛c for September, 1⅜@1⅞c for December, and 1⅝c for May.

Slight Advances in Oats.

Despite a bullishly construed government report, a deluge of unfavorable crop advices, and improvement in the general cash demand last week's oats market had a hard time showing any gain at all over the final figures of the previous week. The last prices on Saturday showed net advances of ¾c for July, ½c for September, ⅝c for December, and ⅛c for May, compared to those of the previous Saturday. The movement to the principal markets has been scarcely enough to care for current local requirements, and there is not much on the surface to indicate an increase in the shipments. According to popular deductions the government report indicated a yield of about 45,000,000 bu less than last year's outturn. Since the compilation of the statement reports of an unfavorable character have fairly flooded the market from all directions. In this state and in Indiana "green bugs" are said to have wrought irreparable damage, and in other sections the plant has given poor response to materially improved weather conditions.

Provisions Little Changed.

Last week's provision market was almost entirely devoid of notable feature, ruling quiet and wholly professional throughout. Prices moved within narrow bounds, packers still being against any material rise and pit traders being disinclined to make much of a play in either direction. The general movement of hogs continues large enough to hold the bulls in check, and the cash demand is not as brisk as the optimists would like it to be.

NEW YORK TRADING SMALL.

Stock Market Dull, but with a Strong Undertone Evident—Union Pacific Good Leader.

NEW YORK, July 14.—[Special.]—The activity and strength in yesterday's market was confined to a few stocks, among which Union Pacific was a leader, because of the belief that the report on the government inquiry into that road's operations would not recommend such strong measures as were at first expected.

The Hill stocks were affected by talk of a maturing plan for the transfer of Northern Pacific's equity in the Burlington to the Great Northern. The closing was strong with the gains held.

The rectification of last week's discrepancy in the cash item of the bank statement conduced to the favorable showing of the clearing house institutions today and explained the small effect of the week's withdrawal of government deposits from the banks on top of a seeming exhaustion of surplus reserves. The cash gain reported today by the banks of $4,000,000 compares with an apparent loss on the known imports of money of upwards of $6,000,000.

Last week's statement, on the contrary, reported a loss of $5,000,000 cash, where a gain of $7,000,000 had occurred, according to the known movements of money. The explanation probably is that corporations transferred deposits from banks to trust companies on a large scale to effect the July statements, after which these cash holdings have been transferred back to the banks.

The heavy loan contraction of $10,888,400 is ascribed partly to stock market liquidation. An expectation of some such anomaly in the bank statement was a factor in keeping up prices in the dull market.

TEXAS LOSES 19 RISK FIRMS.

Robertson Bill, Which Caused Insurance Companies to Withdraw from State, Becomes Effective.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., July 14.—The Robertson insurance bill became effective today. Nineteen insurance companies have withdrawn from the state rather than submit to this law.

"NATIONAL LIFE" FOUND GOOD.

Allegation of Discontented Policy Holders Said by Superintendent of Insurance to Be Unfounded.

Frederick Potter, state superintendent of insurance, has approved the report of the National Life Insurance company on its condition on Jan. 1, and has declared the allegations filed last May by Attorney James S. Hopkins on behalf of discontented policy holders were unfounded.

Maj. John J. Brinkerhoff, the actuary for the department, and H. S. Dietrich, state appraiser, examined the assets of the company. The valuation of $3,000,000 put upon the company's building at 159 La Salle street, which the complaining policy holders said was an inflated value, is declared a fair one.

It was found that no extravagant salaries are paid to the officials and that the general expenses of conducting the company have been reduced materially.

FRANCHISE FOR NEW ROAD TO ENTER PITTSBURG SOUGHT

Railway from Selocta, Pa., Through Rich Mineral Country Proposed—To Connect with Vanderbilt Short Lines.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 14.—[Special.]—J. H. McRoberts, several times millionaire, and president of the proposed Pittsburg and Northeastern railroad, announced today he would ask the Pittsburg councils for a franchise giving the right to enter the city. Construction of the road will be begun immediately thereafter.

The road is eighty miles long, running from Pittsburg to the Selocta yards, Armstrong county, Pa., and all the way tapping rich mineral country. It will cost $12,000,000. McRoberts says financing of the road will virtually be provided in the east.

At Selocta the road will connect with one of the several new roads in course of construction under different corporation names, coupled up by the Vanderbilt system. The Pittsburg and Northeastern will give the Vanderbilt system a second entrance into Pittsburg.

KANSAS EAGER FOR 2 CENT FARE

Railroads Asked to Put Reduction Into Effect—Board of Commissioners May Act.

Topeka, Kas., July 14.—[Special.]—Kansas may join the list of 2 cent passenger rate states soon. If the railroads will not put in this rate voluntarily the state board of railroad commissioners will make an order to have it put into effect. The following letter has been sent to the legal departments of the railroads:

"As you are aware railroads operating in the states of Nebraska, Missouri, and Arkansas have in effect a 2 cent passenger fare rate. The fact that this law is in effect in neighboring states and the fact that conditions in these states from a passenger traffic standpoint are similar to those existing in Kansas is creating a general demand for the establishment of a 2 cent maximum fare in this state.

"The purpose of this letter is to urge upon your company the importance of considering the establishment of an emergency maximum 2 cent passenger rate in Kansas so that Kansas may be placed upon an equal footing with surrounding territory in this regard."

CAR OWNERS TO PRESS CLAIMS.

Association to Be Formed at Cleveland Meeting to Secure Concerted Action on Railway Lines.

Cleveland, O., July 14.—[Special.]—Owners of freight cars used by the railroads have issued a call for a meeting to be held here Aug. 1 and 2. It is intended to organize a "car owners' association" to take concerted action in placing privately owned cars on the same basis as those belonging to the transportation companies, insofar as per diem and demurrage charges are concerned. It is expected more than 250 owners will attend the meeting.

VALUATIONS ARE INCREASED ON TOWN OF LAKE REALTY.

Assessors' Figures, Just Completed, Are 14 Per Cent More than Board of Review's Were Last Year.

Real estate valuations for the town of Lake, completed last night by the clerks in the offices of the board of assessors, show an increase of 14 per cent over the valuation placed on the same property by the board of review last year.

The total, as returned by the assessors, was $26,267,518. The assessors scheduled the same property last year at $23,016,237, and this was reduced by the reviewing body to $22,913,144.

The increase is due largely to the natural advancement in real estate by reason of improvements. The front foot valuations, for instance, show a large increase in Halsted street. More than $3,000,000 of the real estate valuation is comprised in the stock yards district.

ANOTHER SUIT OVER GARY LAND

Henry Bradford, One of Old Owners, Charges Collusion in Getting Property Away from Him.

Another suit involving the title to valuable land in the vicinity of Gary, the steel trust's new city in Indiana, has been filed at Crown Point, Ind. The suit is brought by Henry Bradford of Crown Point, who was a member of the old Chicago-Tolleston Land and Investment company, which owned a large tract of land in the vicinity.

Bradford claims a fourth interest in the land, and says there was collusion by others in getting possession of it. His suit is directed against the Calumet Land company, Don A. Moulton of the Corn Exchange National bank, and others. The land in dispute is said to be worth $1,000,000.

"I haven't been served with a notice of the suit, and know nothing about it," said Mr. Moulton. "I accepted a few lots down in the vicinity of the present Gary twelve years ago in payment of a debt. I know nothing of any claims against it."

VOLIVA MAKES BOLD STROKE.

Dissolves Two Committees Which Had Looked After the Interests of Investors at Zion City.

Overseer Voliva at Zion City has sprung a coup which he hopes will place him in a more advantageous position when his petition to be made a coreceiver of the Zion property comes up in Judge Landis' court Aug. 5.

In a massmeeting of investors that lasted until late Saturday night he secured the dissolution of both the committee of five and the committee of forty, which have looked after investors' interests. In their places there was provided a board of trustees, of which Voliva is chairman, with power to appoint the other two members.

Opponents of Voliva will fight the action, charging that the meeting was not a representative one, that it was called with only one day's notice, and that advantage was taken of the absence of Receiver Hately from Zion City.

AD MEN PREPARE FOR MEETING.

Cincinnati Club Making Ready for Annual Convention of National Association, to Be Held Next Month.

Cincinnati, O., July 14.—[Special.]—Extensive preparations are being made by the Cincinnati Advertising Men's club for the annual convention of the national association of this organization which will be held here Aug. 27-30.

Advices from Chicago and St. Louis show that many delegates from those cities will be present.

Clubs in other cities have signified their intention of sending their full quota of representatives to the gathering.

Complete Huge Lake Drydock.

Cleveland, O., July 14.—The American Shipbuilding company has completed the largest dry dock on the great lakes. It is 750 feet long and 125 feet wide. It will accommodate two boats at once, and, with few exceptions, could dock the largest ocean boats.

PUBLIC OUT OF THE MARKET.

Bull Campaign of Any Proportions Not Expected at Present.

NEW BONDS FAIL TO SELL.

Banks of Country Well Loaned Up, with Reserves Low.

The decided reaction in the stock market has induced the general conclusion that a bull campaign of any proportions is not to be expected. It was a laborious task to build up the 9 or 10 point advance, but it was an easy matter for prices to melt away. Even with the large following that the Boston operator has demonstrated he has in dealing with one stock was of no consequence in the big market.

The public has kept out of stocks for two years except such as Lawson has induced to get into a few copper stocks. While the following is large, its purse is small. The ten and fifteen share people are naturally lost in the big market.

Failure of Bond Sales.

From trustworthy sources it is learned that the entire Standard Oil group is not enthusiastic over the market outlook. But whatever its opinion might be there are three distinct facts of record in the last fortnight which are better than prophecies. The failure of the New York public bond issue and the Atchison and Union Pacific convertibles to attract buyers, tells a story that can only be explained in one way, and that is that people, as a whole, do not care to buy either stocks or bonds at this time.

Another distinct factor is the hardening of the money market in both New York and Chicago. In Chicago, the rate firmed up to 6 per cent for time loans in the latter part of the week, that is, time loans running for six months.

New York was bidding strongly for Chicago funds, offering the same rate of interest but without being successful to any material extent.

Bank Reserves Low.

The banks of the country as a whole appear to be loaned up and their cash reserves low. One local banker points out that the national banks show a decrease of cash in vault reserves from 14 to 7 or 8 per cent. Doubtless the state banks of the country would make a poorer showing in this matter than the national institutions, for, as a rule, they have always carried relatively less than the national banks.

The Chicago stock market shows no improvement. The small boom in Subway has been abandoned. The traction issues fail to excite any interest, due, doubtless, to the unsettled condition of the Union Traction companies.

Trade in Wholesale Lines.

Trade conditions in wholesale and jobbing were unusually active last week for this season of the year, the customary period of dullness showing a large volume of business. Stocks of seasonable goods have been cleaned up in good shape, and in many instances reorders have been of large proportions. In all of the staple lines trade has been seasonably active. Weather conditions have, as a rule, been favorable.

Large sales were reported in the wool market, consumers buying freely. In the cotton goods market there was a quiet tone, but values were held on a firm basis, the large advance business booked effectually preventing any weakening.

Lower prices were reported for pig iron, all markets for this commodity showing an easier tendency. This was due in a large degree to the increased production. Steel sales were moderate, the largest sale reported being that of the Lackawanna Steel company to the San Pedro and Los Angeles of 13,500 tons of rails. Production in June was on a record scale.

The copper metal market was quiet, buyers still being inclined to hold aloof from buying side. A general desire to await developments was manifested.

In lumber and building materials there was a fair degree of activity, with values on a steady basis as a rule. Building operations show little, if any, abatement.

The principal features of the western coal markets were an improved demand for splint coal and a lessening of the amount of fuel up to demurrage. There has been a good movement of coal for thrashing purposes. The movement by lake was heavy. In the main prices were unchanged.

CHICAGO CHILDREN OF ERIN START ON TRIP TO IRELAND.

Miss Fitzgerald Says They Will Bring Part of the Blarney Stone Back with Them.

About seventy-five Irish residents of Chicago started over the Lackawanna from the La Salle street depot at 3 o'clock for a trip to Ireland. Miss Mary Fitzgerald, 948 West Adams street, well known in Catholic church circles, seemed to voice the sentiments of all others when, in reply to a question, she said:

'Sure, we are going to kiss the blarney stone and bring part of it back with us."

Miss Fitzgerald will go to London, Paris, and other leading cities of the world before she returns. Mrs. Morris Moore, wife of the police lieutenant and sister of Ald. John Powers, was among the tourists. After visiting the Dublin exposition she will spend a couple of months with her relatives at Kilkenny and the kin of her husband at Limerick. Among others in the party were John McCabe, the South Chicago banker, Mrs. McCabe, and their daughter; the Rev. Father William Murtaugh, and the Rev. Father P. A. McLaughlin. They will board the Carmania in New York tomorrow morning and arrive at Queenstown next Monday and at Liverpool on the day following. Most of them will proceed direct to the Dublin exposition, where a day has been set aside for Chicago Catholics.

The party was the last of 300 tourists who went through a special arrangement with the New World, a Catholic publication. The idea is to bring about a closer fellowship among the church people. W. F. Creagan had charge of the tourists.

EDUCATIONAL

How about the boy —your boy?

The coming year at school should make him more the manly fellow you want him to be. Do you feel satisfied that it will do it?

It isn't only a question of text books and discipline; both good; there's a great deal more to your boy's education.

Our little book "The right school for your boy" gives our idea of making a manly boy of your boy. We send it and our catalogue if you ask for it.

In writing for booklet please state where you saw this advertisement.
